

ROUND TABLE FOR PURCHASE OF MORE LAND

The Gettysburg Civil War Round Table, at its meeting Thursday evening at the GAR rooms, E. Middle St., went on record as urging Congressman James M. Quigley and Senators Joseph E. Clark Jr. and Hugh Scott to support "to the fullest" bills before Congress providing funds for purchase of land needed to increase the Gettysburg Battlefield holding.

The same motion, as passed by the group, urged the Adams County commissioners to sell the portions of the County Home land west of the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd. "only to the federal government for battlefield purposes."

The Round Table held that "sale of the county home land for building sites would practically wipe out the First Day's field of the battlefield. The National Park owns only from fence to fence in the Barlow's Knoll area and elsewhere along that section."

At Gettysburg many classmates faced each other as the armies fought. Of the graduates of the class of 1842 of West Point, Abner Doubleday, George Sykes, John Newton and Henry L. Eustis were with the Union Army at Gettysburg while James Longstreet, Lafayette McLaws and Richard H. Anderson were with the Confederates.

"At the class of 1841, Horatio C. Wright, Albion P. Howe and John R. Reynolds were with the Army of the Potomac and Richard B. Garnett and John M. Jones with the Confederates. Incidentally that class of 1841 produced Joseph Gorgas who was chief of ordnance for the Confederacy and whose son was the builder of the Panama Canal."

RED CROSS TO OPEN CANVASS FOR $9,700.00

Several hundred volunteers in every section of Adams County, excepting Gettysburg and its immediate vicinity where the Community Chest operates, were ready today for the opening of the Red Cross fund campaign for $9,700 which opens Monday.

Working under the direction of Campaign Chairman Luther W. Ritter of Littlestown and his co-chairman, George B. Inskip of Fairfield, the canvassers will start ringing doorbells in county towns and in rural sections next Monday.

Their instructions are to complete the canvass for funds as rapidly as possible. Chairman Ritter hopes much of the territory can be covered Monday evening by the volunteer staff which is described the largest and best organized the Red Cross ever has put together across the county.

Get $100 Check

Advance gifts on hand to date total $614 and include the annual check for $100 from Thomas H. Bateman, Philadelphia, a former resident of the York Springs area. The funds sought in the March drive will finance first aid classes, home nursing training and emergency service in local disasters. The money will be used, too, to pay the chapter's office staff and rental where more than 7,000 service calls were received in the last year, Chairman Ritter said.

Assigned Quotas

Mr. Ritter emphasized the value of the water safety courses given each summer by the Red Cross. "Last summer more than 1,000 persons received free swimming instruction and we hope many of them will remember the Red Cross now when it is asking for funds with which to carry on that and its other service programs," he pointed out.

Districts throughout the county have been assigned quotas and supplies have been distributed to district captains and through them to the solicitors.

Yanks Board Red Trawler To Investigate Breaks In Five Transatlantic Cables

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department awaited a report from the Navy today before communicating with Moscow on the boarding and high seas search of a Soviet trawler by a U.S. Navy team.

In a surprise action, U.S. sailors briefly boarded the trawler in fishing waters off Newfoundland Thursday.

They reported nothing to indicate the Russians had anything to do intentionally with recent breaks in transatlantic cables. What might have happened by accident was an open question.

A spokesman said the State Department would communicate with the Soviet Union through diplomatic channels as soon as a full report is received.

Fishing Intentions Only

After searching the trawler, the Navy team reported: "No indications of intentions other than fishing."

The quick negative report, issued by the Navy here a few hours after the boarding was announced, lessened the potential impact of the incident on already touchy U.S.-Soviet relations.

There was no immediate indication how Moscow might react. Nations jealous of their sovereignty often resent the boarding of their ships by men of another nation.

54 Men, Women Aboard

The Soviet vessel is the trawler Novorossiisk, with a crew of 54 men and women. The Navy reported the captain was friendly and cooperative.

The United States acted under an international agreement which the Defense Department said "authorizes investigations by naval ships of official documents of other ships suspected of damaging and interfering with cables under the high seas." Both the United States and the U.S.S.R. are signers of the agreement.

Flight instruction consists of 20 hours of dual time, 15 hours solo time, and 1 1/2 hours of final check time, a total of 36 1/2 hours.

Ground school instruction consists of 30 hours in meteorology and navigation, and 5 hours in flying rules and safety and airplane maintenance.

COP CHAIRMAN TO BE ELECTED BY COMMITTEE

The Republican chairman in Adams County will be chosen by the county Republican committee, beginning next year, it was decided at a meeting of the committee in the Bendersville Fire Co. hall Thursday night. In the past the county chairman has been elected by the Republican voters in the county at large.

The change in method of choosing a chairman is the principal change in party rules effected by a new set of bylaws which the county committee adopted by unanimous vote of the 93 committeemen present at the meeting. Thirty-nine of the county's 44 election districts were represented.

The new bylaws limit the privilege of voting by proxy. Under the new rules, a committeeman may give a proxy to another committeeman. Formerly he was not limited in his choice of a proxy and could delegate anyone to represent him.

Result Of Study

Atty. Charles W. Wolf, a member of the committee which prepared the draft of the new bylaws, explained that the drafting committee had studied the bylaws of other counties and had tried to select the best ideas from each. It was brought out that 62 other counties are using the system of choosing a chairman in the committee as provided in the new bylaws.

Fred Pfeffer, county committee secretary and a member of the drafting committee, read the new bylaws and submitted each section to discussion and approval. Although several points were the subject of considerable discussion, there was little dissent and the new bylaws were adopted finally in their entirety without opposition.

Several suggestions — among them, that the chairman be limited to two two-year terms and that it be mandatory that at least one committee member from each district be a woman — were explored and discarded after discussion.

Serving on the drafting committee with Wolf and Pfeffer were Thomas H. Allen and William Starry. John D. Thrush aided the committee by doing much of the "leg work" and research, Wolf said.

Calls For Unity

Pfeffer, in presenting the new bylaws, called for free discussion on each point but asked what the vote on the change in method of electing a chairman be "overwhelmingly for or overwhelmingly against" for the sake of party harmony.

The meeting was conducted by H. Earl Pitzer, county chairman. Mrs. A. W. Butterfield, county vice chairman, distributed lists of names of voters whose registration will be dropped from the rolls unless they request reinstatement. She urged committee members to work to retain these voters and also to secure candidates for all local offices so as to "fill the ticket."

Pitzer echoed the plea that candidates be nominated for all offices. "Start at the grass roots," he said. "Then you've got something to work for."

G-BURG FROSH CAGERS ENJOY FINE SEASON

Gettysburg's freshman cagers under the guidance of Coach Howie Shoemaker are enjoying one of their finest seasons in recent years. The frosh yearlings, who currently support a 15-3 record, have averaged 87.8 points per game against their opponents 66.4 per contest.

The big guns in the Baby Bullets attack have been their two sharpshooting guards Ron Warner and Bob "Wheaties" Parker. Warner, whose brother, John is a guard on the Bullet varsity, is pacing Shoemaker's five with a 27-point average per game while Parker is right behind him with 23 markers per game.

Height A Problem
Shoemaker characterizes his Baby Bullets as "an excellent scoring team who possess exceptional speed and good rebounding ability." Although he has received fine support under the boards from 6-2 Bruce Simpson and 6-1 Rocky Burnett, the squad at times has operated at a serious height deficit. The frosh head mentor considers height and defense to be the team's biggest problems.

Looking toward next year and the future varsity careers of his yearlings, Shoemaker rates his first five of Warner, Parker, Burnett, Simpson and Bob Fleming as having an excellent chance of cracking the varsity lineup next season.

been damaged since last Saturday in the area off Newfoundland. Fishing vessels of many nations operate in that area and accidental cable damage sometimes occurs in normal deep sea fishing operations.

But the Pentagon said that aerial reconnaissance by American planes "confirmed extended operations of Novorossiysk in the area of the cable breaks at the time the breaks occurred."

Under orders from the commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, Adm. Jeraud Wright, five men from the antisubmarine radar picket ship Roy O. Hale climbed aboard the Novorossiysk at noon Thursday.

The trawler was about 120 miles off St. Johns, Newfoundland, in international waters. Wright ordered the boarding party to make the check under a provision of an 1898 treaty to protect cables. Although it was the czarist government of Russia which originally joined in the treaty, officials here said the Soviet government adhered to it in 1926.

In an initial report, Wright said that the skipper of the Hale, Lt. Cmdr. E. J. Korte, and his four men found that the Novorossiysk was equipped for deep sea fishing and that all the ship's documents were in order.

ASKS CENT BOOST IN CIGARET TAX

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence said today he will ask the Legislature to enact an extra penny-a-pack tax on cigarettes to pay some 120 million dollars in a state bonus to Korean War veterans.

Lawrence said in a statement that his office has prepared a bill for introduction in the House next week calling for an increase from five to six cents in the tax on a pack of cigarettes.

"The Military Affairs Department is ready to go into action," Lawrence said in promising that the first bonus payments would begin within six months after the passage of the administration bill. The bill follows the recommendations made by the governor's bipartisan Tax Study Committee as a method repaying the money for the bonus payments to an estimated 330,000 Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean War.

Columbus Papers Halted By Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pressmen's strike has halted publication of this city's three daily newspapers with a total daily circulation of 347,000.

The strike by Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local No. 15, forced the morning Ohio State Journal and then the evening Columbus Dispatch and Columbus Citizen to suspend publication.

The strike started Thursday night when pressmen, failing to come to terms with the publishers on a new contract, threw up picket lines outside the Dispatch-Journal building and the Citizen building.

John Winnestaffer, president of the pressmen's group, said he saw no hope for an immediate strike settlement. He said the stumbling block was the issue of premium pay for Saturday night work.

KHRUSHCHEV IS BLAMED BY BRITISH PRESS

By DENNIS NEED

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers on both sides of the political fence united today in blaming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev because prime Minister Harold Macmillan had obtained no concessions from the Soviet in his Moscow visit.

Even newspapers of the Labor opposition conceded Macmillan had done his best.

Macmillan himself had promised only to return with information. He had warned he was going on a reconnaissance mission, "to try to break the ice and get some feeling of the general situation."

Called Failure
British spokesmen in Moscow admitted Thursday, after their chief flew to Kiev for the sight-seeing portion of his trip, that the "feeling" Macmillan got was that both the Soviets and the West so far were standing firm on the related issues of divided Germany and West Berlin.

Britons generally had hoped for more. As a result, Macmillan's trip was widely termed a failure.

The papers agreed that Khrushchev's speech Tuesday, pouring cold water on the Western proposals for a foreign ministers' conference on Germany, had wrecked the British-Soviet meeting.

"Rough, Rude Speech"
"It was Khrushchev's rough, rude speech — breaking confidences, abusing all and sundry, and belying the fair words spoken to Mr. Macmillan's face — which ended hopes raised by his visit to the Soviet Union," commented the conservative Daily Mail.

The final insult came with Khrushchev's toothache — a "diplomatic toothache" many called it — which prevented him from accompanying Macmillan to the Ukrainian capital of Kiev.

"This looks very like a calculated rebuff to Mr. Macmillan," the Daily Mail said.

Miracle Needed
The headlines reflected Britain's letdown.

"Khrushchev wrecks talks" — The Laborite Daily Herald.
"Moscow mission negative" — Conservative Daily Telegraph.

"Unless there is a diplomatic miracle between now and Tuesday, the final communique will consist of empty words and platitudes," said the right-wing Daily Sketch.

class of 1835, came to Gettysburg as a teacher and married a Gettysburg girl and who was praised by Lincoln as well as others for his skill as an engineer. Lincoln said of a railroad bridge Haupt had hastily constructed that it cornstalks but it worked. Another West Pointer with a Gettysburg connection was Albion P. Howe, of the class of 1841, who fought here and who also was married to a Gettysburg girl.

Sheads said that General Pickett's uncle secured, through friendship with Abraham Lincoln, then a congressman, the West Point appointment for Pickett. "A few days before his death Lincoln visited Richmond. There he visited his friend, the uncle of Pickett, and held for a time Pickett's son, thus symbolizing unconsciously that there was no bitterness in Lincoln and that Booth, in killing Lincoln, killed the best friend the South had," Sheads added.

"My Wife, Mrs. Brown"
"One of the most interesting of the West Pointers was Lt. Gen. Richard S. Ewell, who had a wooden leg—and was shot in it at Gettysburg. Ewell was said to have been disappointed in a love affair in his youth, but like the knights of old he carried her image in his heart through the long years and when he became a major general in the Confederate States Army he named her son a member of his staff. The meddlesome fates, who seem to revel in the romances of lovers, decreed that Ewell would be wounded in battle and become the object of tender nursing by his lost love, Mrs. Brown, who had been for many years a widow. Her gentle ministrations soothed his weary weeks of suffering, a marriage ensued, and with it came the realization of Ewell's long-deferred hope. He was a most devoted husband," Sheads said, "but he never seemed to realize that marriage had changed her name, for he proudly presented her to his friends as 'My wife, Mrs. Brown, sir!'"

Sheads said that Brig. Gen. William N. Pendleton, chief of Lee's artillery at Gettysburg, had been rector of a small Episcopal church at Lexington, Va., when in 1860 the men in the community organized a battery and asked him to drill them. When the Rockridge Artillery enlisted the Rev. Mr. Pendleton was elected captain. "The company named their artillery pieces 'Matthew, Mark, Luke and John' and the four gospels spoke at Gettysburg. Pendleton won fame early in the war through his order during a brush with the Union forces in the Shenandoah Valley. He had loaded and aimed his gun, then raised his hand in prayer: 'May the Lord have mercy on their poor souls—fire!'"

Allen Larson, Wayne Shields and Lt. Col. Corvan S. Bryan were named as nominating committee to report at the March meeting.

Ask Stassen To Run For Mayor
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's top Republican leaders today asked Harold E. Stassen to be the party candidate for mayor this year. Stassen promised an answer next Wednesday.

The former assistant to President Eisenhower said he would run if the leaders could prove there was support for him from the rank and file, women and independent Republicans.

Stassen sought the GOP nomination for governor of Pennsylvania last year and generally ran well except in Philadelphia where ward leaders backed Arthur T. McGonigle, the winner.

Since that campaign, Stassen has returned to his law practice. He was formerly governor of Minnesota and later an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican presidential

"THE DATE"

The avenue was crowded . . . but I stood all alone . . . waiting patiently for one . . . who was to be my own . . . I watched humanity pass by . . . in hopes that I would see . . . the one whom I was looking for . . . so very earnestly . . . but seconds turned to minutes . . . and still no earthly sign . . . and deep inside my heart there was . . . an ache that made me pine . . . but I don't give up easily . . . and so I stood my ground . . . perhaps my love was merely lost . . . and waiting to be found . . . then as the minutes ticked away . . . I knew something was wrong . . . and so I reassured myself . . . my dear would be along . . . then suddenly to my chagrin . . . I thought about the date . . . I was a whole day early . . . and so I did not wait.

News From Nearby Counties

FRANKLIN COUNTY

Franklin County school administrators, meeting Wednesday in Chambersburg, heard Judge Chauncey M. Depuy discuss juvenile problems as they relate to the schools.

Judge Depuy based his discussion on these five statements:

School systems should have some kind of staff to investigate problem cases in the schools.

Truancy indicates there is something wrong at home.

Juvenile authorities could help more if schools would make records on problem pupils.

Each school system should have a guidance program, with a guidance counselor in each school and an overall guidance administrator.

The county should and will have some day a county child guidance center.

YORK COUNTY

York County School Board members learned at their meeting last night that the Department of Public Instruction will require them to have a reading supervisor for the 1959-60 school year, despite a vote against hiring a supervisor at the annual convention of school directors a month ago.

Other surprises sprung on the board included new standards, requiring two full days of in-service training for all teachers and limiting the class size for first grades to 25 students where no kindergarten exists. New required courses are a program for gifted students, remedial English for English for grades 10, 11 and 12, and developmental reading for grades 7 and 8.

The councils of Manchester and Mt. Wolf, adjoining boroughs, decided Thursday night to form a joint authority to finance construction of a proposed sewage treatment and collection system. The project, which will serve the two boroughs, will cost about $1,100,000.

AGREE TO FCC ORDER WASHINGTON (AP)—Without admitting they violated the law, 17 leading manufacturers of paper shipping sacks have agreed to a federal trade commission order banning price fixing.

The FTC handed down the order Thursday. It had accused the 17 companies of illegally using identical processing formulas for the sacks.

BLUE AND GOLD BANQUET HELD IN FAIRFIELD

The Fairfield area, which includes several neighboring communities, was commended for its interest in Scouting by Stanley C. Rogers, Scout executive for the Black Walnut District, as he spoke at the third annual Blue and Gold banquet of Fairfield Cub Scout Pack 76 in the Fairfield school cafeteria Thursday evening. There were 144 Cubs and members of their families present for the event. Cubmaster Paul Crist was master of ceremonies and introduced Rogers.

"Fairfield has one of the best rounded out programs in the district," Rogers said, emphasizing the role of the community's Cub program which, he said, "takes thinking, contacts and organization."

Rogers paid tribute to the work of the Cubmaster, his assistants and the den mothers but reminded parents of the Cubs that "in order to earn awards, they should have some push."

Interest Reflected

He said that community interest in Scouting was reflected in the facts that more Scouts from Fairfield than any other area attended the recent Scout meeting in Gettysburg and that the community has the highest percentage representation at the University of Scouting now being conducted in Hanover.

Rogers also paid tribute to Col. Mahlon Haines, of York, who will be 84 next Thursday. Haines, a member of the York-Adams Area Council for a number of years, was prominent in the establishment of Camp Tuckahoe and has played host at his Wizard Ranch near York to thousands of Boy Scouts on "safari" each year.

Edward B. Cashmore, music instructor in the Fairfield Joint School System, entertained with magic. Crist also introduced Carl Pilsinger, a new assistant Cubmaster, and Charles Lott, institutional representative from the Charles Gilliam Post, AMVETS, sponsors of the pack. The Cubmaster also announced that the Cub Scouting theme for March is "Canada." The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Myers, pastor of the United Church of Christ.

Awards Presented

Kermit Spence, neighborhood committeeman, presented these awards to Cubs: Bobcat, John McGlaughlin; wolf, Stephen Newman; Jack Inskip and Thomas Kuhn; bear, Robert Benner and Stephen Weikert; one-year pin, Linn Newman, and two-year pins, Jay Myers, Richard Gladhill, Francis Bowling, Richard Crist, Roger Benner and Ronald Miller.

Cubmaster Crist presented Cub Scouting bracelets to Den Mothers Mrs. Paul Crist, Mrs. Francis Shultz and Mrs. Kermit Spence.

Decorations for the banquet followed the blue and gold theme and included gold candles in blue holders, place cards and mats featuring the colors and Cub Scout emblems and insignia, gold napkins and blue nut cups. Decorated cakes, prepared by the den mothers, were center pieces for the several tables. A fried chicken dinner was served.

BLAME PARENTS IN BABE'S DEATH

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A man and his wife, who said their religion prevented them from taking their sick infant daughter to a doctor, face up to 10 years for manslaughter.

Bible-quoting Olen O. Craig, 35, claimed he was doing the Lord's will in not letting modern medicine step in to try to save 5-month-old Elaine. The child died Nov. 25 of pneumonia.

Craig and his wife, Lillian, were convicted Thursday by a jury which deliberated 40 minutes. They were released in $1,000 bond until sentence is handed down.

Craig, a building contractor, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge one year ago in the death of another child, Raymond, 8. The court then held there was reasonable doubt Craig knew the boy had pneumonia.

The Craigs belong to the Church of God sect here.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Three Attorneys, Chief of Police in Draft Of 167: Donald P. McPherson Jr., Esq., chairman of the county rationing board, and two other members of Adams County's already depleted bar; Chief of Police Glenn Guise, Special Officer C. William Zhea, Borough Secretary Wilmer Drach, local businessmen and several state, federal and town employees are included in the list of 167 men from Gettysburg and western Adams County who are being ordered to Harrisburg Thursday, March 2nd, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Knouse Corporation Receives WFA "A" Award For Outstanding Achievement During Year: In the presence of representatives of the Army and Navy and civilian institutions and organizations from many parts of the county, the Knouse Corporation of Peach Glen and its 800 employees were presented with the War Food Administration "A" award for outstanding achievement at brief but impressive exercises conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Arendtsville high school building.

The award, which speakers said is comparable to the Army-Navy "E" and to the Distinguished Service Medal for men in the armed forces, was conferred before an audience of employees and guests of the Knouse Corporation that jam-packed the school auditorium.

The honor given the Knouse corporation for its food production records at the Peach Glen and Chambersburg plants was the first of its kind given in Adams county and the third in all of the eastern United States and possibly the nation.

Farm Bureau Anniversary Meeting Today: The Adams county Farm Bureau cooperative today marked its tenth anniversary by voting to increase its capitalization from $35,000 to $100,000 and by increasing the number of the directors of the organization. Harrison F. Snyder, Littlestown; Millard F. Stoner, Fairfield, and George Taubmanbaugh, Gettysburg R. D., were named as directors for three years; Joseph C. Klunk, Edge Grove, was named as a new director for three years and Vernon Rife, New Oxford, was elected a director for two years.

Youth Wins 2 Prizes Based On Book Works: Prizes of $5 in cash and a $25 war bond were presented to Horace Waybright, Gettysburg high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 1, at the annual dinner meeting of the Adams county members of the National Farm Loan Association, Wednesday evening at Mrs. Smith's restaurant.

The awards were made on the basis of the selection of Waybright's farm record books as the finest submitted by any farm boy in Perry, Cumberland, Franklin, York, Adams and Fulton counties.

Father and Son Win Scout Badges: Joseph Stevenson, scoutmaster for the Cashtown troop of the Boy Scouts, and his son, Joseph Jr., a member of the troop, received most of the awards handed out at the district Court of Honor session held Tuesday evening at the Court House.

First class merit badge awards went to Joseph Sr. for forestry, conservation and bird study. His son was handed badges for handicraft, angling and marksmanship. Stewart Klinefelter of Troop 80 was given a second class merit badge for handicraft.

A Problem Of Shoes: The local War Price and Rationing board was called on recently to inspect a rural road in case they doubted that an application for a child's special shoe stamp was warranted. The following realistic information was contained in the application: "She walks 1 1/2 miles to school. Come out and see this road and you'll know why she needs new shoes."

Today's Talk

KEEP RIGHT ON

My business has been through about six serious depressions. I sat tight like a captain at sea often does, until the storm and black clouds leave. There is always sunshine behind those black clouds and the captain looks upon his job with the greatest pride. His courage never fails him.

It's like that with all of us, I believe. I recall reading a brief statement by the late Thomas A. Edison. He said he had been through several depressions and panics but he had always come out of them, together with thousands of others. He also stated the nation always came out safely, and with flags flying, as a general rule. None of us should fear even in a world so full of it as right now.

I dare say there is hardly a business that has not had tough times. And thousands of letters I have received, over the past years, have convinced me there are more people who see the bright than the dark side of things.

God never meant His gift of Courage to people to be given just for the fun of it. He meant that each one of us should be endowed with courage and use it intelligently and without fear of failure. I can think right at this time of no better three words than these:

Keep right on!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "How I Read a Book"

Just Folks

A FRIEND REJOICES

I never thought that I should hail Those forty days of fast with cheer;

Time was that Lent On slow feet went

And every week seemed like a year;

And I that was so full of sin Chafed at the bonds of discipline.

But now, Oh, season spent in thought,

Oh, time to ponder higher things,

Oh, sweet relief,

You are too brief,

Your days fly by on golden wings!

Your nights are filled with sweet repose,

We're giving up the picture shows.

I never thought that I should hail With joy the meditative season.

Yet now I vent To Holy Lent

A prayer of thanks, and there's a reason:

For forty nights sweet peace I'll know;

To picture shows I need not go.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

WHEN THE TENSION IS ON

By Frank Gifford

1956 winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy for most valuable player

To handle the tension that comes before every football game, I've worked out a formula. Although quite simple, it is every bit as important to me as making sure my shoulder pads fit securely.

I find myself a quiet corner in either the locker room or the training quarters; and take just a few minutes for a silent prayer.

The prayer itself, rather than being a request to perform well, is one of thankfulness that I have been given the physical ability to take part in something I sincerely love to do.

When I was in high school and later in college, I used to be somewhat embarrassed, and would always look for a place in which to offer my prayer as far away from my teammates as possible. Then I discovered that other players were also wandering off to some quiet spot for the same purpose.

At All-Pro Games One of the highlights of my football career was being invited to play in the 1954 All-Pro Game (similar to baseball's annual All-Star game) in the Los Angeles Coliseum; I'll never forget an incident that happened before the game.

Players and coaches had finished pre-game discussions, when Abe Gerson and Lou Groza, two stars of the Cleveland Browns, stood up and asked the entire team if they would mind waiting just a moment.

"It's a custom with us to have a moment of prayer together before each game," said Groza. With that, each of those 250-pound giants dropped on one knee and bowed his head.

When one of the referees entered the locker room to tell us we were holding up the game, our whole ball club was kneeling for two minutes of prayer. I have often wondered what he thought then, and later, as we meshed together perfectly to beat the Western All-Stars by a wide margin that day.

Before Every Play You spectators, if you have field glasses, watch the pre-game huddles of professional, college, or high-school games and notice the many players whose eyes are closed and lips moving. I notice it before every game the New York Giants play.

More and more athletes realize today that not only is body conditioning necessary, but also the spiritual conditioning of their minds. In football, as in life, you get knocked down and suffer losses from which you must recover. This takes good physical equipment and the proper mental outlook.

When I first joined the New York Giants back in 1952, I felt I could never be anything but a defensive back, that I could not run, pass or kick well enough to make the team.

Lack Of Faith I told this to the Giant coach who took me at my word, figuring that if I had no confidence in my offensive skill, he certainly wouldn't. So for several years I played a defensive halfback only.

Then during one of my pre-game prayers, it occurred to me that it was primarily a lack of faith that limited me to one role in football. So I asked God, not to make me a good runner or passer, but simply to help me to use all of the abilities which He had given me in a maximum way.

This prayer changed my attitude. The new attitude was followed by action. I began using workouts to practice running, kicking, passing. Soon the chance came for me to play offensive halfback in a game, and I was able to make the grade.

No Miracles If I have learned anything about prayer it is this: when the game is close and I have a chance to score the winning touchdown in the last minute of play, an emergency call to God won't get it for me. What will be determined by how well I have prepared myself physically and mentally over a period of months. In other words, I don't see how one can expect miracles from an emergency prayer if he hasn't bothered to develop a closeness to God when things were going all right.

Just as a football player could never amount to anything without physically conditioning himself, so too am I convinced that our prayers will not be effective unless we spiritually condition ourselves through life.

CAMPANELLA GOING TO CAMP

NEW YORK (AP)—Crippled Roy Campanella, who says he is heart sick over his 15-year-old son's juvenile delinquency, has decided nevertheless to keep his promise and go to Vero Beach, Fla., to work as a special coach with the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team.

The Negro ex-star catcher, confined to a wheelchair by injuries suffered in an auto accident more than a year ago, said on Thursday he has abandoned plans to take his family with him. Campanella will coach young pitchers.

After the arrest of his son David last Tuesday, Campanella had said he didn't know if he would go to Vero Beach.

His wife, Ruth, said he is still deeply upset over David's conviction Tuesday on a juvenile delinquency charge for street fighting and his arrest the next day as an alleged drugstore burglar. Because the boy is under 16, that charge also is only juvenile delinquency. A court hearing has been set for March 11. The boy is free in $3,500 bail.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee gathered today to make a final choice for the party's 1960 national convention city.

Los Angeles, recommended by a site committee, was favored to win over 11th hour challenges from Philadelphia and Chicago.

Six cities were in the original competition. On Jan. 18, an eight-member committee headed by Camille F. Gravel Jr. of Louisiana agreed on Los Angeles, whose bid included $350,000 cash plus use of a new 17,000-seat sports arena.

Other matters likely to come before the committee include plans for a fund-raising series of dinners May 8 in honor of former President Harry S. Truman's 75th birthday; a proposal to make national committee members automatic members of their state delegations; and a resolution authorizing a convention arrangements committee.

Saturday night the committee stages its $100-a-plate national victory dinner at which it expects about 2,000 guests. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texans, head a list of 14 speakers.

Says Bad Debts Slowing Economy CHICAGO (AP) An economist says bad debts are holding back prosperity.

Gordon C. Fletcher said at Northwestern University that: "The economy is stabilizing, and the recession is receding, but prosperity is dragging an anchor."

"This anchor is visible in the rising trend in the number of accounts being turned over to collection agencies by creditors."

Marshall Remains In Serious Condition

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The condition of Gen. George C. Marshall remained unchanged today. Marshall has been in serious condition at Womack Army Hospital here since suffering a stroke Jan. 15.

He suffered a second stroke last week, and for a time there were other complications.

Col. G. M. Powell, Marshall's physician, said the complications have been cleared up.

RAIN DELAYS GOLF TOURNEY

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament, its start already delayed one day by rain, faced the prospect today of more rain and another change in plans.

The rain, which had kept the players off the course for three days, held off Thursday while the qualifying, postponed two days, was held. But shortly after, a drizzling rain began.

More wet weather was forecast for today and tonight.

Young Johnny Pott, former Louisiana State University golfer, led the qualifiers with a one-under, par 71 over the 6,467-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

Eight players were one stroke behind the young Shreveport professional.

Defending champion Ken Venturi headed the list of name professionals who did not have to qualify. The others include Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Ernie Vossler.

Carding 72s were Frank Clark, Woodcrest, N. J.; Earl Greenwell, Robinson, Ill.; Jon Justin, Woodbridge, Conn.; Henry Williams, Fleetwood, Pa.; Leroy Silva, Hayward, Calif.; Bob Frainey, Chicago; Davis Love Jr., El Dorado, Ark.; and Bill Farrell, Springfield, N.J.

Present plans call for the 72-hole medal play tournament to end Sunday with 36 holes.

Missouri Coach Gets 8-Yr. Contract

COLUMBIA Mo. (AP)—Dan Devine who came to the University of Missouri as head football coach a year ago signed an eight-year contract.

President Elmer Ellis said the new agreement, effective Sunday, is binding on both parties. It specifies that Devine agrees to stay at M. U. for eight years without seeking employment elsewhere.

His salary was not announced. This was the second move to make sure the popular coach, whose first Tiger team had a 4-1 record, doesn't leave Missouri. A group of alumni has announced that it is paying the premiums on a $150,000 life insurance policy for Devine.

Missouri was second in the Big Eight Conference last season, losing only to champion Oklahoma in the league.

14TH JUPITER IS LAUNCHED

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Army Jupiter missile, with a range of 1,500 miles, hurtled aloft today on the start of a full-range test of the workhorse vehicle. The Army said the flight across the Atlantic was successful.

The 60-foot missile shot skyward at 12:49 a.m. after waiting out a 6 hour downpour. It was the 14th launching of the Jupiter, a key rocket in the upcoming Army moon probe and two other major U.S. space ventures. The latest Jupiter carried nothing alive, military sources said.

A ship was stationed in the down-range impact area to record data on re-entry of the missile's three sections—nose cone, instrument compartment, and booster.

Jupiter does triple duty as a war missile, moon rocket and a likely test vehicle for Project Mercury, the man-in-space program.

The fiery takeoff was a preview of the Pioneer moon launching which is expected this weekend.

It will be a second attempt to fire a 13-pound gold-plated satellite past the moon and into orbit around the sun. The Soviets said they achieved this with a larger satellite early in January.

Mount Tops Catholic U. In Mason-Dixon Tourney; Face Baltimore Tonight

Mt. St. Mary's advanced to the semifinals of the Mason Dixon tournament by defeating Catholic University, host for the tournament, 87-79 Thursday evening in Washington, D. C.

Tonight at 9:30 the Mountaineers will meet Baltimore, 67-63 victor over Lynchburg, and in the other semifinal game at 7:30 American University opposes Loyola. 80-60 while Loyola defeated Randolph-Macon 70-61 in opening round games.

The Mountaineers and Catholic battled on even terms throughout most of the first half but late in the half the Mount spurred to take a 43-33 lead at intermission.

Mount Braces
Bob Talbot, who had averaged 19 points per game for the Cardinals, failed to connect for a goal until late in the first half but he opened the second half with three goals in a row and Charles Naspinsky added another for Catholic. However, the Mount recovered on some nice ball control, led by Bert Sheing, and maintained a lead throughout the remainder of the game.

Jerry Savage rammed through 30 points for the Mountaineers while Sheing backed him up with 24. Jim Reilly led the Crusaders with 26 and Talbot finally amassed 15.

Jim Phelan's Emmitsburg outfit has now captured eight of its last nine games for an overall season record of 14-12.

COUSY NEARS SCHAYES FOR RECORD SCORE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Cousy — the perfect synonym for perfect basketball — heads for another milestone today.

The Boston Celtics ace, takes off after Dolph Schayes of Syracuse as the biggest scorer in National Basketball Assn. history. Cousy reached the No. 2 spot Thursday night with a 17-point performance against the Philadelphia Warriors. He has scored 11,773 in nine years of NBA competition, bettering George Mikan's 11,764, set mostly with the Minneapolis Lakers, in nine years. Schayes, including Thursday night's 31 points, has 13,944.

The Celtics defeated the Warriors 125-109, while Syracuse downed St. Louis 130-111. The Cincinnati Royals defeated Detroit 106-101 at Louisville, Ky.

Had Plenty Of Help
Cousy had plenty of help as eight Boston players hit double figures, led by Frank Ramsey and Tom Heinsohn with 21 apiece. Woody Sauldsberry had 25 points for Philly, 23 in the first half and Paul Arizin scored 26.

After the second game of the War Memorial Auditorium twin-bill in Syracuse, the Nats need six victories or six Philly losses or a combination of the two to set up the last Eastern playoff berth.

The Nats almost blew a 17-point lead as Bob Pettit, who scored 30 points, led the Hawks in a comeback. George Yardley, Hal Greer and Schayes put the game away for the Nats in the final period. Cincinnati recovered from a poor start to sink the Royals as John McCarthy and Jack Twyman led a comeback. Twyman scored 27 points and McCarthy, 19, while Gene Shue led the Pistons with 16.

SCORTICHINI, ARMSTRONG TO FIGHT TONIGHT

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Business is picking up for Gene (Ace) Armstrong, the undefeated middleweight.

The 27-year-old contender from Elizabeth, N.J., takes on Italo Scortichini, the Italian middleweight king, in a television 10-rounder (NBC 10 p.m. EST) at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Armstrong is the 2-1 favorite. This marks Armstrong's second fight of the year. That matches his activity for all of 1958. Some times it doesn't pay to be too good. The Ace, who has a 16-0 record for 3 years of pro fighting, has been finding it difficult to get the other members of the top 10 elite to mingle with him. Armstrong is ranked fifth by the NBA and 10th by Ring.

Scortichini, unranked, is willing to fight anyone. On his two previous invasions of the United States and through 1953-1956, he fought 22 times with so-so results in the ring. Financially, the curly-haired Italian did far better. Fighting against the top welter and middleweights, Scorty just managed a 9-11-2 record. But he made enough dough to buy up several houses and land in Italy and has a good bank account to go with it. He thinks he'll do better both in the ring and in the finance department this time.

Big Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati moved closer to his second straight college basketball scoring title Thursday night. The Bearcats' star pumped in 36 points against Duquesne to boost his season's average to 33.4. Leo Byrd of Marshall, the runner-up, also had a good night. He tallied 34 points against Morehead (Ky.) and raised his average to 30.3, according to NCAA Service Bureau figures.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney is scheduled to arrive at the San Francisco Giants spring training camp in Phoenix today. Rigney has been recovering from injuries suffered in a recent auto accident. During his absence Coach Frank (Salty) Parker has been in charge of the workouts.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — First Landing is a 4-5 favorite in the 11 horse field which may start in Saturday's $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park. A victory for the C. T. Cheney entry would bring his earnings to over a half million dollars. He would be the first thoroughbred in history to win so much by the age of 3.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Althea Gibson of New York, Wimbledon and U.S. women's tennis champion, defeated Chilean champion Carmen Ibarra 6-1, 1-6, 6-0 in an exhibition Thursday night. The stadium was packed by 3,000 cheering fans. Hundreds waited outside.

Later Luis Ayala and Maria Tort defeated Daniel Achondo and Althea Gibson in a mixed doubles match, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bo Wininger, chairman of the Professional Golfers Assn., Tournament Committee and one of the top players on the tour, is recovering from a hernia operation and expects to play in the Masters tournament April 2-5.

Wininger said he planned to spend about two weeks at Palm Beach, Fla., to practice before going to Augusta. Wininger left the tour after the Palm Springs, Calif., tournament late in January.

Sheely Tops Bolts In Cage Scoring

Statistics of the Littlestown High basketball squad, which closed its season with an overall 6-14 record and 6-10 league mark, reveal that Jesse Sheely, 5-9 senior, led the team in scoring with 205 points for a 10.5 average per game. Ron Crouse, 5-11 senior, was second with 181 points for a 10-point average.

The top rebounder was Ed Knipple, 5-11 junior, who grabbed a total of 125 for an average of six per contest. Runner-up was Capt. Fred Hahn, 5-10 senior, with 92 and an average of 4.6.

MANTLE GOES TO WEISS FOR SALARY TALK

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankee's No. 1 power man, arrived here Thursday night and said he planned to call General Manager George Weiss for a salary conference today.

The 26-year-old centerfielder did not say whether he would sign his contract, but indicated that he and the Yankees were not far apart.

Mantle, who earned $72,000 last year, reportedly is holding out for a $3,000 raise.

Weiss, after sending Mickey a contract calling for $65,000, has agreed to boost the figure but apparently wants Mantle to agree to certain conditions before yielding to the slugger's demands for $75,000.

Mickey wants no part of any conditional contract. "I am just not going to talk about it," Weiss replied when asked to specify what the conditions were. "In the past the misunderstanding has been misunderstood."

Weiss was referring to the Ford case in which it was reported that Whitey balked at signing a conditional contract agreeing to observe curfew regulations and other training rules.

"There absolutely was no behavior clause attached to Ford's contract," Weiss said. "We merely wanted him to adhere to a prescribed diet which he failed to do last year."

Race Distance Is Hillsdale's Problem

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The distance of the race may be the biggest problem for the Indiana-based Hillsdale in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap Saturday.

Fourteen rivals are entered in the mile-and-one-quarter handicap against C. W. Smith's 4-year-old bay, all of whom he has either beaten or who weren't considered good enough in the past to run against him. But track observers think Hillsdale's best is at a shorter distance.

Hillsdale goes with only 113 pounds. High weight is 116, to be carried by Terrag.

The low weight is 103, carried by Ballyrullah and Royal Grove. Royal Living will carry 111 pounds and Social Climber will have 113 pounds.

GHS Cage Captain

Tommy Crist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crist, Elm Ave., was elected honorary captain of the Gettysburg High School basketball team at a meeting of squad members Thursday afternoon.

Crist, a senior, is the shortest but also the fastest player on the squad and has been an outstanding performer all season.

Tonight he will captain the Warriors in their final game against Delone at McSherrystown.

Larry Doby's switch from the outfield to first base, it turns out, is the key to the season's starting lineup for the Cleveland Indians.

"If Doby is all right physically, he's got to play. We need his bat," said Manager Joe Gordon.

The big league teams continued to haul in signed contracts. Philadelphia grabbed a big one when Richie Ashburn, the NL's batting champ, came to terms for an estimated $38,000. Other signees included Andy Carey and John Jacik of the New York Yankees, Gene Woodling of Baltimore, Charley Maxwell of Detroit, Felix Mantilla of Milwaukee and Bob Malkmus of Washington.

Idaho State, the leader in the Rocky Mountain Conference, will be making a record seventh successive appearance in the tournament. Only four-time champion Kentucky has made more overall appearances, 10.

It's the fourth time in the NCAA for DePaul and the first for Portland.

DePaul and Portland will meet in a first round game at Portland, Ore., at a date to be chosen, probably March 9, 10 or 11. The winner will advance to the Midwest regional at Lawrence, Kan.,

I. H. Crouse And Sons To Break Ground Soon For New Home In "Rolling Acres"

Beautiful Rolling Acres which swings around the northeastern sector of Littlestown will see new homes being added this year to the cluster of 10 that have been erected there in the last dozen years.

As soon as the weather breaks, I. H. Crouse and Sons, Littlestown builders and realtors and owners of Rolling Acres, will break ground for a new split-level seven-room home that promises to be one of the most attractive in the new development. The builders will offer the new home for sale.

Owners of the most extensive building development in lower Adams County bought the land for Rolling Acres in 1941. There was a 105-acre tract from the Sell farm and another 45 acres from the Sneringer property. Development of the area which eventually may provide the sites for 500 homes was begun immediately.

More Streets Planned

The big tract was surveyed and plotted and the first two streets, Glenwyn Drive and Ocker Ave., were laid out. More streets are on the drawing boards and Glenwyn Drive eventually will be extended to connect with extensions of streets from the present Crouse Park area.

Streets and curbs were put in, pavements were laid and the winding drives were planted with pin oaks that promise shady streets for homes nestling in well-kept green lawns.

All lots there are sold with curbs and pavements in and the utility service lines already run to the curb lines. The streets and the shade trees that line them are to be kept up by the owners of Rolling Acres, I. H. Crouse and Sons. Town water and sewer lines are in.

From $15,000 Up

There are no restrictions on the type of construction of homes that go into Rolling Acres but there are requirements about the position of the house on each lot. Already there are stone, brick and frame homes there while some have employed combinations of those materials to make attractive dwellings that range upward in price from $15,000.

I. H. Crouse and Sons built the first house in Rolling Acres in 1946 on Glenwyn Drive and sold it to Henry Waltman. Since then nine others have been built along Ocker Ave., all but one of them built by Crouses.

Three of the homes were built by I. H. Crouse and Sons and then sold. The others they built were on lots sold to new owners. There is a new home for sale there now by Edwin Sell and another lot has been sold with the owner planning to put a new home into construction soon.

Plans By Plunkert

Herbert Plunkert, draftsman and expert home planner for I. H. Crouse and Son, has drawn the plans for most of the Rolling Acres homes. There is only one home in the development that he did not plan while he shared responsibility for a second. Now he is putting finishing touches on the new dwelling soon to be started there.

When Littlestown gets going on its new high school building, Rolling Acres will have a new attraction for home builders because the new school will be erected on a 20-acre tract sold in Rolling Acres to the Littlestown Joint School District a year or two ago. It will be built off

Beautiful Glenwyn Drive as it appears in summertime in Rolling Acres, the building development which stretches from the Hanover Rd. toward Crouse Park, northeast of Littlestown. Ten new homes already have been built there and the Crouse firm will break ground soon for an attractive split-level home. Town water and sewer lines have been extended for the new development and utility lines, pavements and curbs are in.

"Separate Tables" To Open Soon

With the appearance of Deborah Kerr, Rita Hayworth, David Niven, Wendy Hiller and Burt Lancaster, in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster's "Separate Tables" opening on Wednesday at the Majestic Theater, five of Hollywood's foremost stars blend their prize-winning historic talents in a compelling picturization of one of Broadway

Maple Ave. on an area joining the present school grounds.

I. H. Crouse and Sons put up two homes in the Rolling Acres development last year and another contractor erected a third.

The Early Builders

The list of early builders in the Rolling Acres section includes the following besides Mr. Waltman: Luther Ritter, A. G. Ealy, Charles Ritter, Mrs. Melvin Wehler, William F. Pfaff, Edwin Sell, Edward Sheets, A. W. Schott, Mrs. Josephine Coover and Ralph M. Conover.

Pictures of each of the new homes line the paneled walls of the offices of I. H. Crouse and Sons on Lumber St. in Littlestown along with an attractive summertime shot of winding Glenwyn Drive with its pin oak shade.

There's a picture there, too, of the firm's founder, the late I. H. Crouse, father of Cloy I. and Nevaeh A. Crouse, its present owners.

A new photo will join the ranks of those views of new homes this year — maybe several of them — as more and more families decide to follow the Crouse slogan: "Let's Build Our Home, Too, In Beautiful Rolling Acres."

and London's leading stage successes.

Produced by Harold Hecht and directed by Delbert Mann, "Separate Tables" is a poignant drama of love and loneliness as typified by a cross-section of emotion-torn residents of a small British seaside hotel. It is the work of Terence Rattigan, the playwright of such smash hits as "The Sleeping Prince," "French Without Tears," "The Winslow Boy" and "O Mistress Mine." Rattigan and John Gay wrote the screenplay.

The blockbuster cast of "Separate Tables" is further enhanced by such outstanding names as Gladys Cooper, Cathleen Nesbitt, Felix Aylmer, Audrey Dalton, Rod Taylor, Mary Hallatt and Priscilla Morgan. The United Artists release was photographed by Charles Lang, A.S.C.

Rita In Dramatic Role

For Rita Hayworth, "Separate Tables" provides the most exacting dramatic role the star has ever before attempted as an American divorcee whose veneer of sleek sophistication, poise and beauty is brutally pierced to reveal a lonely and frightened woman seeking to reclaim the man she can neither live with or without. Lancaster portrays the object of Miss Hayworth's silken wiles, who cannot shake off the allure of the lovely creature who has brought him only disgrace.

Miss Kerr is seen as Sibyl, retarded emotionally, dominated by her mother, afraid of life and romance-starved who finds unexpected strength and understanding in Niven, an Army major who actually is living a life of lies because of dislike of self. Scandal engulfs the major and his shame affects those around him with surprisingly dramatic results.

Wendy Hiller, whose unforget-

GOVERNOR TO KEEP TAX PLAN

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence was reported ready today to propose without a single change—adoption of a bipartisan tax report to close a 425-million-dollar gap in his budget expected to run beyond $1,850,000,000.

The tax report, made public nearly two weeks ago, recommended increasing the 3 per cent sales tax to 3½ per cent.

Lawrence will present his 1959-61 general fund budget to the Legislature on Monday. The $1,850,000,000 figure is an all-time high and compares with the previous record of $1,550,000,000 for the current two-year fiscal period ending

BUILT ON SAND?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

O MASTER, LET ME WALK WITH THEE

O Master, let me walk with Thee
In lowly paths of service free;
Tell me Thy secret; help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.

Help me the slow of heart to move
By some clear winning word of love;
Teach me the wayward feet to stay,
And guide them in the homeward way.

Teach me Thy patience; still with Thee
In closer, dearer company;
In work that keeps faith sweet and strong,
In trust that triumphs over wrong.

In hope that sends a shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way;
In peace that only Thou canst give,
With Thee, O Master, let me live.

DIVINE COMPANIONSHIP

During the season of Lent readers naturally turn to devotional literature and prayer hymns. One of the hymns which best lends itself to quiet meditation is "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee." It was written by Washington Gladden, famous Congregational preacher who edited the "Sunday Afternoon" during his ministry in Springfield, Massachusetts.

This hymn was first published in 1879 as a meditation in the column called "The Still Hour." It appeared under the caption "Walking with God." The author said of it: "It had no liturgical purpose and no theological significance, but it was an honest outcry of human need, of the need of divine companionship."

The hymn clearly reflects the social conflicts of the period in which Washington Gladden lived and worked. Because of his liberal and advanced views on social matters, he soon became the object of bitter criticism. When he served as religious editor of the New York "Independent," he fought the notorious Tweed ring, and his editorials started the prosecution which put the offenders in jail. Later, when he started preaching Sunday evenings on labor-management problems, he aroused considerable opposition. He ignored it and continued to preach cooperation between employers and employees.

From Springfield he went to Columbus, Ohio, where he remained 32 years, becoming one of the most powerful preachers in the country. This was mainly because he insisted upon the application of the gospel to social, political and economic life of America. He frequently was involved in strikes and many of his addresses to near-strikers were published in the "Century Magazine" and other well-known periodicals. Universities sought him as a speaker on social reforms. Today he is considered one of the outstanding clergymen of his day in the field of social philosophy.

This statement in his "Recollections" gives us the keynote of the hymn thought: "The simple truth is that religion is nothing but friendship; friendship with God and with man." "O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee" is a prayer for efficiency in service, the plea of a pastor for more sympathetic and persuasive preaching, power and wisdom to map a consistent course. The last two stanzas are a revelation of what the author endured as a social reformer. If we wish to be strengthened, we must keep company with Christ. Such companionship as described in this hymn should bring peace and perfect fellowship.

Freak Accident Kills Baby Girl

TOKYO (AP)—Poison gas given off by burning celluloid Thursday killed one daughter of a U.S. Air Force civilian employee and left a second daughter in critical condition.

The Air Force identified the dead child as Jill Anne Franklin, 15 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Franklin of 406 Sevenson St. Sayre, Pa.

Janet Anne, 29 months, the second daughter, is in Tachikawa Air Base Hospital.

The Air Force said the children "were playing with the celluloid when it fell or was placed on an electric hot plate, bursting into flame, giving off poison gas."

A seamstress in the house discovered the accident. A maid was also present. Mrs. Franklin was shopping at the time and the husband was at work at Fuchu Air Station.

125 ATHLETES IN TOURNEY AT SQUAW VALLEY

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—An international field including top athletes of Europe and the United States inaugurates Squaw Valley's Olympic speed skating and nordic skiing facilities Saturday.

Four days of competition include cross country and ski jumping and four skating races from 500 to 1,000 meters.

Closely watched will be the effects of the 6,000-foot altitude on such champions as Sweden's Sixten Jernberg and Per-Erik Larsson in the cross country and Finland's Juhani Jaervinen and Toivo Salonen in the skating.

125 To Compete

A field of about 125, including 50 foreigners, will compete in nine events in the North American nordic skiing championships and a world invitational skating meet. Nations represented are Canada, England, Finland, Japan, Norway, Sweden, Russia and Austria.

Recently crowned United States

ski jumping champion Willie Erickson of Kingsford, Mich., faces such internationally famous jumpers as Kalevi Karkinen of Finland, brother of the 1956 Olympic champion; Russia's Dmitri Kochkin and Yuri Samsonov, and Canada's champion Jack Chandland.

Sprains Ankle

Samsonov's showing depends on how well he recovers from an ankle sprain suffered in practice. The new 80-meter jumping hill has claimed several victims including Japan's Takashi Matsui, fractured wrist; Dick Koshen, Racine, Wis., concussion; John Cress, Granby, Colo., broken collarbone, and Bernard Dixon, Lebanon, N.H., a broken neck.

The opening schedule Saturday lists the 30 kilometer cross country race at McKinney Creek and the 500-meter speed skating in the afternoon.

Sunday the ski jump competition and 1,500 and 1,000 meter skating races are on the program. The 15 kilometer cross country will be run on Monday and 20 kilometer ski and shoot — the North American Biathlon — Tuesday.

Foreign currency spent in Israel in 1958 totaled 12 million dollars. This is about twice as much as was spent in 1957.

BOWLING

ST. LOUIS—Ed Lubanski, who captained the Pfeiffer Detroit team to an all-time American Bowling Congress team score on Wednesday, smashed another ABC record with a nine game all-events total of 2116.

GOLF

BATON ROUGE, La. — Johnny Pott, Shreveport pro, shot a one-under-par 71 to lead qualifiers in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open.

RACING

MIAMI—Amerigo ($430) opened a two-length lead on the stretch turns and never was threatened as he won the feature at Hialeah.

LUBANSKI MAY BE TOP BOWLER

ST. LOUIS (AP) — After Ed Lubanski's performance in the American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday and Thursday, he seems destined to win the coveted "Bowler of the Year" award of the Bowling Writers Assn.

Ed, of Detroit, and his Pfeiffer Beer team broke two ABC records. Lubanski's 2116 all-events-to-date wiped out the 2088 record set two years ago by Jim Spalding of Louisville, Ky. His 764 in the singles was the third highest set in that category. He leads both divisions.

The Pfeiffers' 3243 series in the open team division, including Ed's 700 contribution, is a record and the team's 1176 finale was the third highest single game in the team division.

And the Pfeiffers' 9561 team all-events total is the second highest in the 56-year history of the tournament.

The Pfeiffer barrage was more than enough to stop the St. Louis Fallstaffs, defending ABC team champions. The team shot a 3010 series to move into fourth place.

BRITISH HAVE 3 IN TOP TEN HEAVYWEIGHTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw away those old gags about horizontal British heavyweights. For the first time since Ring Magazine started its world boxing ratings 33 years ago, three of the big boys from the British Isles occupied berths among the heavyweight division's top 10 contenders.

The monthly ring ratings, released today, had British and British Empire champion Henry Cooper fourth and two former British and B. E. rulers, Brian London and Joe Erskine, ninth and tenth, respectively.

Erskine, a 25-year-old Welshman, rejoined the select group on the strength of his upset, 10-round decision over American Willie Pastrano in London Monday.

1/2 List Is Foreigners

Pastrano, of Miami Beach, Fla., was dropped from fifth place to seventh for his narrow defeat.

In all, half of the list was filled by foreigners. Sweden's undefeated European heavyweight champion, Ingemar Johansson, and Cuba's Nino Valdes maintained their one-two positions.

The remainder of the top 10 includes Zora Foley, Chandler, Ariz., third; Sonny Liston, Philadelphia, fifth; light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, San Diego, Calif., sixth, and Eddie Machen, Redding, Calif., eighth.

Liston was named "fighter of the month" for his knockout over tall, Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N.Y. DeJohn was removed from the list to make way for Erskine.

The author's detailed, hour-by-hour account of the most dramatic day in history started at 6 p.m. — the beginning of the Hebrew day — with Jesus and ten of the Apostles coming to Jerusalem. Peter and John had gone ahead to prepare the evening's feast at the home of the rich father of the Apostle Mark. The two had bought the food and had begun its preparation when Jesus arrived in the upstairs room with the others. At 7 p.m., the roast lamb was taken from the oven. Before the feast began, the Disciples stood in groups, chatting. Jesus stood by Himself, wait-

I say to you that I will eat of it no more, until it has been fulfilled in the kingdom of God.”

The Twelve, looked at each other, as they so often did, for a greater understanding of His words. They took it to mean that He loved them and wanted ardently to eat this important feast with them, and that He would not eat it again until Judea, which had rejected Him, had recognized Him as God.

“Man of Mercy”

When all thirteen were at table, the Man of Mercy tipped a flagon and filled a large cup with red wine. He held it in His left hand, sitting up on the couch to do so, and held the palm of His right hand over it. “Take this.” He Apostles soon forgot their sensitivities in something new and more important. Their Messiah was not following the prescribed rites. He had not sanctified anything. The Apostles — to most of whom the Passover ritual was completely familiar — felt that the tall Galilean was not following the law under which all of them had been raised. And yet they said nothing. Jewish etiquette, which had nothing to do with the law, was also strict. A guest should conform in everything to his host.

The second servant brought a large basin and jug and walked around the edge of the couches and paused behind Jesus. According to ritual each diner would more emboldened, said bravely: "You shall never wash my feet!"

"If I do not wash you," Jesus said softly, "you will have no part of Me."

This was an ultimatum. The pale - bearded Apostle not only knew how to fight for the things in which he believed, but he also knew how to surrender completely and abjectly.

"Lord," he said loudly, "not only my feet, but my hands and my head too!"

Jesus washed the feet of Peter, ignored the invitation to wash the hands and head, and went on to the others on the left side of the table. Now they waited eagerly for Jesus to talk and, as He neared the end of the table, He said: "He who has bathed needs only to wash and he is clean all over." They looked at each other and nodded approval. A man who has cleaned all of his skin needs only to bathe his feet after a short journey. "And you are clean," Jesus said as He stood

Nurses Back Bill Against Strikes

HARRISBURG (AP)—A House bill that would outlaw strikes by hospital employees, including nurses, had the support of the Pennsylvania Nurses' Assn. today.

The measure is patterned after the Public Utility Anti-strike law. It was introduced by Reps. Robert Wheeler (D—Fayette), Louis Rovanske (D—Cambria) and Arthur George (R—Cumberland).

In a statement Thursday, the association said: "In exchange for the relinquishment of the right to strike, the bill calls for a guarantee to employees of the right to bargain collectively with their employers, through representatives of their own choice."

ALCORN MOVE WINS SUPPORT IN CONGRESS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move by National Chairman Meade Alcorn to draft a statement of long-range Republican party objectives won support Thursday from GOP members of Congress.

Alcorn announced after a conference with President Eisenhower Wednesday the appointment of a 44-member committee to draft a statement of party principles. The group will be headed by Charles H. Percy, president of the Bell & Howell Co., Chicago.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said, "it certainly is worth a try."

COLLEGES TO GET SCRUTINY ON HAZARDS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A statewide campaign to eliminate fire hazards in educational institutions will shift to Pennsylvania's colleges this week.

SAYS 5 MILLION COULD BE USED IN FLOOD WORK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Army engineer has told a meeting of Pennsylvania's Congressional delegation an extra five million dollars could be put to good use on flood control projects in the state.

Gov. David L. Lawrence met with 21 members of the House and with Senators Joseph S. Clark (D) and Hugh Scott (R) Thursday in a bipartisan effort to speed up federal flood control projects in the Commonwealth.

Lawrence said that in his opinion the administration has not asked for enough money to keep Pennsylvania projects moving as fast as they could during the year.

but not all."

"Master And Lord"

The Apostles waited for a further exposition of these last mystifying words. The Messiah stood, washed His hands, dried them, and went back to His place at the head of the table and donned His outer garment. But for the moment Jesus did not explain.

Instead, He asked the Apostles a question:

"Do you know what I have done to you?"

"You call Me Master and Lord," He said, leaning on His elbow and gesturing with His right hand, "and you are correct, for I am. If, therefore, I, the Lord and Master, have washed your feet, you ought also to wash the feet of one another."

This seemed reasonable — a little alien, perhaps, but reasonable — and the Twelve nodded gravely. They understood, and they agreed.

Servants Of The Lord

"For I have given you an example," the Lord said, emphasizing the word example, "that as I have done to you, so you too should do. Amen, amen I say to you, no servant is greater than his master, nor is one who is sent

MORE TIME ON FIRE HAZARDS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Labor and Industry Department today took under advisement appeals from two districts for more time to correct fire hazards in their schools.

The appeals were presented by the Sullivan County and DuBois Districts at a day-long hearing of the State Industrial Board Thursday.

Carl Driscoll, spokesman for the Sullivan County District, asked for a delay until summer in renovating the Lopez Elementary School, Colley Twp.

Merger Ahead

He noted that the district faces a merger July 6 and that it "has practically no money to make repairs."

John F. Dwyer, director of the Department's Inspection Bureau, said he has ordered a new inspection of the school because some confusion had arisen regarding conditions there.

Superintendent W. D. Weaver of the DuBois District asked the for party members to attempt to define where they are going.

"Can't Do Harm"

"We can't get hurt trying this approach and if the members of the committee can come to an agreement on Republican principles it will indicate that the party can do the same," Goldwater said.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, former House Republican leader, commented, "It can't do any harm to have a new statement of principles before the 1960 campaign."

Alcorn said he expects the committee, which meets here March 13-14, to have ready by Sept. 1 a statement covering such topics as civil rights, agriculture, labor, monetary policy and other areas.

Names Leaders

"This is an attempt to state what the party ought to be trying to do in the next eight or 10 years," he said.

Saying that the committee represents "all segments of Republican party thinking," Alcorn said he invited only one Republican governor, Cecil Underwood of West Virginia, to join the group.

Alcorn named Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Rep.

reges this summer, officials of the Labor and Industry Department said today.

"Right now checking these potential dangers in grade and high schools has top priority but after that we will take a look at the colleges," Secretary William L. Batt Jr. told The Associated Press.

The department started a crash campaign against school fire traps after a recent Chicago fire took the lives of some 90 pupils and teachers. The agency is acting under provisions of the state's Fire and Panic Law.

To Colleges In June

"It's a rough guess but we estimate that our campaign in the grade and high schools will be completed about June," said Batt. "Then we'll turn to the college buildings."

Approximately 8,500 public, parochial and private schools are being checked in the drive, Batt said.

John F. Dwyer, director of the department's Inspection Bureau, estimated that there are some 600 college buildings which will come under scrutiny when that phase of the campaign starts.

To Be Ready For Fall

Could Use Funds

Brig. Gen. J. L. Person, assistant chief of engineering for civil works in the Army Engineers, declared he was not specifically requesting added funds for Commonwealth projects.

But, he said, the Army could put extra funds to good use. He suggested that if extra money is forthcoming, it could be used in this way:

An extra $1,500,000 for deepening the Delaware River Channel, for which $13,500,000 has been recommended by President Eisenhower; two million to start construction of the Maxwell Lock and Dam on the Monongahela River, for which $95,000 has been recommended for planning; $500,000 each for initial work at Brookville and on the Shenango River Reservoir, for which $73,000 and $150,000 respectively are recommended for planning; another $25,000 for planning on French Creek near Meadville, and $525,000 to start construction of a flood control project on the west branch of the Mahoning River in Ohio.

The last project, Person said, is vital to Pennsylvania flood control, although it lies outside the Commonwealth.

But here again Jesus was not to follow the ritual. He got to His feet and took the basin, the water and the towel from the startled servant. The apostles sat up, mute with astonishment. The first servant was not present, having gone downstairs to present the skin of the lamb to the owner of the house as custom decreed.

Washes Disciples' Feet

They understood it to refer to themselves; that they, the servants of the Lord, could not be greater than the Lord, Who was not above washing feet. The part referring to the one who is sent not being greater than the one who sent him could, they understood, refer to Jesus and His relationship to God the Father. In sum, He was not greater than the One Who sent Him here — His Father. They hurried to agree with Jesus, and His brooding eyes searched from face to face until He was certain that comprehension was complete. "If you know these things, you will be blessed if you do them." Relieved, they now ate happily and without restraint.

Ask Clarification

In other hearing developments: David Kuhn, president of the Southern Area Joint School Board, sought clarification of orders to close the second floor of Elysburg School, Northumberland County. He was told that although a fire well already exists, wooden stairs must be replaced with metal or concrete stairs.

Lee Eck, supervising principal of the Eastern Lebanon County Joint School System, was told that the Jackson Twp. old building at Myerstown needs a new heating system. The board ordered the second floor of the two-room building closed.

The board said it would recom-

The project has been delayed pending settlement of court action by the Seneca Indians to halt construction of the dam. It would flood a portion of their reservation in western New York state. The Senecas have until April 23 to file an injunction with the U.S. Supreme Court.

Rep. Leon H. Gavin (R-Pa.) suggested that the delegation work toward an appropriation of 5 to 10 million dollars for the Kinzua project, and also called for congressional action to rescind the order holding up work on the dam.

In silence Jesus removed the sandals, set them carefully on the floor, and laved the feet with warm water. Then in silence He removed the towel from His waist, dried the feet of His amazed and protesting follower, and moved on to the next man. When that job was finished, He moved to the next and the next, and washed and dried the feet of Judas and John and came to Simon Peter. Peter, who loved Jesus deeply and would not have Him do this thing, tried to tuck his feet under his loins on the couch.

The Messiahial look up at him reproachfully and Peter, glancing around for support for his refusal, said timidly: "Lord, do You wash

But this — who? The Apostles felt embarrassed to be caught glancing at each other. Who indeed? They looked at each other and looked away. He could not mean the plot of the high priest against His life; they had been aware of that for a week or more and were terrified at the thought of being in Jerusalem near the home of Caiaphas. But Caiaphas was not "he who eats bread with Me."

The betrayal has to be arranged so that the arrest of Jesus can be effected when the multitudes of His followers are not about. The traitor's plan unfolds in tomorrow's installment of the story of the most dramatic 24 hours in history. You will want to be sure to continue it here Saturday.

FASHION SHOW IS PLANNED BY WOMEN'S CLUB

Plans were furthered for the sixth annual fashion show of the Women's Community Club of Littlestown and vicinity at their February meeting on Wednesday evening in the social room at the Eagles home, with the first vice president, Mrs. Robert H. Miller, presiding.

The fashion show this year will feature 20 fashions of the simplicity wardrobe, in addition to those hand-sewn fashions to be made and modeled by members of the club or their families. It was decided to invite the members of the Junior Women's Club also to show clothing which they have hand-sewn for themselves or members of their families.

The affair will be held on Wednesday, April 22, in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Any one desiring to show fashions is asked to contact Mrs. Robert H. Miller. Tickets for the show will be distributed by the finance committee at the March 25 meeting. The fine arts committee is in charge of fashion show arrangements, and it includes Mrs. Carroll E. Arter, chairman, Mrs. Leroy W. Bish, Mrs. Beaven F.

Hanlon, Mrs. Irvin R. Kindig, Mrs. Robert H. Miller, Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar, Mrs. Monroe J. Staveland and Mrs. John Brody.

Donations Announced
The membership committee will prepare the refreshments; Mrs. Bernard M. Selby, chairman, Mrs. Charles Benner, Mrs. Stanley S. Horner, Mrs. Orville C. Sentz, Mrs. James Slick and Mrs. Naomi C. Schwartz. Members are also asked to contribute articles which may be used for draw prizes. Proceeds are earmarked for the high school band uniform fund.

Reports were heard Wednesday from Mrs. Chester S. Byers and Mrs. Sterling J. Wisotzky. Contributions of $5 each will be given to the polo and to the heart fund, in accordance with the club budget. Mrs. Richard Emerson was introduced as a guest.

Mrs. Atlee F. Rebert, chairman of the skit presented by the clubwomen at the PTA-sponsored Jamboree, displayed the first prize trophy which the club was awarded and thanked the members who participated in the skit. A letter of thanks from the PTA was read.

Mrs. Charles W. Weikert gave a report of her investigation on the juvenile court fund of the Adams county Federation of Women's Clubs, noting that the fund has been depleted and it was voted to contribute the $3.33 necessary, from each of the three federated clubs, in order to again have the Court Fund with a $25 balance available.

Mrs. Carroll E. Arter, assistant supervisor of the now disbanded Ground Observer Corps, thanked the members who had participated in this work and presented certificates for "faithfully serving the G.O.C." and granting honorary membership of the United States Air Force Air Defense Team, to Mrs. George P. Smith, Mrs. C. Wayne Purdie, Mrs. Robert H. Miller, Mrs. Warren Bixler, Mrs. John N. Sell, Mrs. Claude White, Mrs. Joseph R. Riden, Mrs. Edward T. Richardson Sr. and Mrs. Curvin Hollinger. Mrs. Arter also received a certificate.

Ask Volunteers
There was a discussion on increasing the individual membership dues from $4 to $5 and a secret ballot was given to each member present, and one will be given to all other members, in order to obtain the majority wish of the club, before plans are made to amend the bylaws which is necessary when dues are changed. "Thank you" notes were read from the Adams County Home Auxiliary and from the Adams County Chapter of Retarded Children for contributions. The president displayed literature on the Distinguished Daughters of America and the national and international conventions. A petition endorsed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, embarking on a safe driving campaign, was signed by members. One copy of the ballot endorsed will be presented to the state governor and another to the president of the United States, showing the support of Women's Clubs to the safety campaign.

An appeal from the Borough Council to the club membership for volunteers to assist with the school patrol program was presented by Mrs. Miller and several members indicated their willingness to serve. Others not present at the meeting who would be willing are asked to contact Mrs. Miller.
The standing hostess committee, Mrs. Carrie Strine, chairman, was authorized to purchase tea towels and any other needed kitchen equipment and the committee was also authorized to take care of the equipment. Members are invited to donate tea towels to the club.

Talk On Driver Education
Mrs. Emory C. Gitt, chairman of the program committee, presented Clayton L. Evans, a member of the local high school faculty whose topic was "Driver Education," a program has been in the local school for the last seven years.

Driver education is now a compulsory course for juniors in the high school, as far as the class work is concerned. The actual driving is not compulsory but this year there are 102 students in the course compared to the 31 students when the program began in 1951. The cost of the program the first year was 90 cents per student hour and now averages $1.18 per student hour. Approximately 400 students have taken the course in addition to an adult class.

The driver education course requires 30 hours of classroom work when there are discussions of traffic problems, traffic skills, types of drivers, understanding of a car, natural and man made traffic laws, the art of driving and the courtesy, cooperation and common sense which a driver must practice. Eight hours are

VARIETY SHOW NEXT FRIDAY BY JAYCEES

The fourth annual Variety Show and This Is Your Life program will be held by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce next Friday evening, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the local high school auditorium.

Plans are nearing completion for the presentation and an unusual coincidence brings added interest to the program this year. During the past week a Philadelphia representative of the sponsor for the weekly Ralph Edwards television production "This Is Your Life," was in conversation with a local businessman and heard about the Jaycee sponsored event. All of the community homes will be sampled with the sponsor's product and something special will be arranged also for the night of the show, as a result of this chance meeting and to aid in publicizing the show. The outstanding citizen in the community to be honored on the local "This Is Your Life" program, remains a secret until the night of the show.

The variety show this year will feature three acts, prominent among them, a lad from Hanover who entertains with pantomime, Bob Crawford, who has had his audiences rolling with laughter, will appear on the show, doing humorous pantomimes to recorded music. He recently entertained in the community and was hilariously received.

Evans To Be Emcee
Also on the show will be Hugh Roberts, local high school senior, who has pleased audiences for

Girl Scouts Work On 'Homemaking'

The Girl Scouts of Intermediate Troop 45 met on Wednesday after school in the engine house, when work was continued on the homemaking badge, in charge of Mrs. Edwin W. Elder Jr., Mrs. John Kump and Mrs. John H. Flickinger, leaders; Jackie Morelock and Carolyn Cawmer, troop aides. Mrs. Maurice C. Warehime, Park Ave., practical nurse, was present to demonstrate how to make a sick bed.

Each girl was asked to return a slip signed by her mother, showing that she had made her bed every day for the past week. To continue the badge work, the troop will be taught the use of the thimble at next week's meeting. As a home assignment, each girl should hem a skirt or a piece of cloth before next Wednesday. Plans were discussed for the troop's display during National Girl Scout Week. The money from the recent treasury project, an imaginary food sale, was returned. June Bechtel was a visitor at the meeting.

Tickets for the show may be secured from any member of the local Jaycee chapter and reserved seats may be secured at Marvin's Cut-Rate Store, S. Queen St. L. Robert Snyder and Albert J. Bair are co-chairmen of the general committee on arrangements for the event.

FREIGHT KILLS POLIO CRIPPLE

REDDING, Calif. (AP)—Richard Tobiasson, 10, a polio cripple, was killed by a freight train Thursday as he played between Southern Pacific tracks.

In 1956 Richard attracted wide attention when he said he wanted to get well so he could join the Marines. Marine Maj. Gen. Robert H. Pepper sent the boy his autographed picture and a letter of encouragement. Marines at Camp Pendleton, Calif., sent him chevrons and he had quite a collection.

Richard had discarded the brace he once wore and was able to ride a bicycle.

He and a nephew, Robert Tobiasson, 6, were picking up stones from between the rails. Robert saw the train barely in time to jump clear. Richard didn't see the freight.

Taneytown

TANEYTOWN—The junior and senior high school science pupils will exhibit their science fair projects April 24-25 in the Taneytown High School auditorium.

The Mt. St. Mary's Glee Club will present a program for the high school student body in the auditorium March 10, under the sponsorship of the student council.

George W. Crouse, George Shower, Robert Smith and Felix Westline, of the Taneytown Kiwanis Club, were guests of the Frederick Kiwanis Club Tuesday when U. S. Sen. J. Strong Thurmond addressed the group meeting in the Francis Scott Key Hotel.

Lions Host Farmers
Men from the farming community were guests of the Taneytown Lions Club at its meeting Tuesday in Taneytown Inn. The Jaycee quartet, Elwood Harner, Herbert Bowers, Paul Roop and Robert Royer sang "Down Mobile Way" and "I've Been Working on the Farm Road." James H. Fair was piano accompanist.

William H. Johnson, Baltimore, extension representative of the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, spoke to the group on leadership. "There are five kinds of leaders," he said, "those who are out front and have the ideas that others follow, those who are pushers and know how to get others to go their way, those with the personality to make others want to do things for them, the dictators who promise everything to all people in order to get what they want. Perhaps a sixth kind is that group who think they are leaders."

The Life Of Christ

He Drives The Money-Changers From The Temple

At the Passover of 28 A.D. Jesus and His followers went up to Jerusalem. As His first public act had been for His Mother, now His second would be for His true Father — Yahweh (Jehovah). He stood among the jostling mobs in the court of the Gentiles and He heard the cries of the money-changers quoting the price for transferring Gentile coins into temple shekels, and He smelled the dung from the sheep and the oxen.

How could His people make of His Father's abode a gigantic stinking stable; how could such a mundane thing as money have anything to do with the proper worship of His Father? Jesus the Man was shocked. His brown eyes opened wide and He knew that there was no end to the way in which man can, by slow degrees, pervert a beautiful concept. The piercing cries, the odors, penetrated the Holy of Holies and this, to Jesus, was sacrilege.

Anger Was Rare

Anger in this Man was rare. When it came, it had the dark silent quality of an oncoming thunderstorm; it could be seen before it broke. He reached to the ground without a word and picked up some pieces of rope. Of these He made a whip with knotted ends. His Apostles watched.

Then He walked across the big marble court, flailing before Him with the cords in His big right hand. He saw the surprised faces of the money-changers, and then He saw fear as they jumped from their tables and ran. He kicked the tables over, and the stacks of tarnished coins tinkled and rolled over the big slabs of marble. The pilgrims were in an uproar as they watched Him turn from the money-changers to the market of Annas. He loosed the oxen and the sheep and set the pigeons free. Jesus was breathing deeply

HOPE TO START 'CONTINENTAL' STYLE FOR MEN

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Men's wear retailers with an eye out for something new that will induce the hardy male to part with a few bucks are pinning their hopes on the "Continental."

Styled in sunny Italy, the continental suit is popping up in a few select men's apparel shops this spring, vying for attention and His face was flushed as He came upon the men of the market. "Get these things out of the way!" He shouted. "Do not turn My Father's house into a market place!"

with the still popular Ivy. Men, among the most conservative of this earth's creatures, are looking and comparing but they aren't buying yet. At least, not many are buying.

Craze Next Spring

Retailers hope the fad will start to catch on next fall.

"If this thing works out, you'll see a rash of buying by October," says one. "By the spring of 1960 we'll be well into a fashion craze that should sweep the nation."

Leslie F. Vail, president of a men's apparel chain, sees a great future for the Continental suit among rising executives who he says have literally and figuratively outgrown Ivy.

In case you haven't seen one, the jacket is one to one-and-a-half inches shorter than that of the Ivy or conventional "American lounge." It has squared shoulders, narrow, peaked lapels, pockets that slant backwards, and a cut-away front. The most popular style has two front buttons and side vents.

Sophistication, Slimness

Unlike the straight hanging Ivy or the bulky American lounge, the Continental follows the contours of the body — and the contours are those usually associated with business success, plenty of nourishing food and drink, not too much physical exercise, and middle age.

The jacket's lower half artfully conceals any incipient bay window. From that point down, the front is cut back sharply. The over-all effect is one of worldly sophistication and youthful slimness. Pants are pleated, tapered and without cuffs.

Says Radiations Cause Mutations

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—A California health consultant says radiation will cause one of every four birth mutations this year.

Dr. Dell F. Dullum, an expert in radiologic health for the State Department of Public Health, expressed belief the cause would be strontium 90 from atomic fallout. He predicted in a speech to a group of health officers that the mutation rate would increase with use of X-rays at the present rate.

He said four of every 100 babies have some defect.

QUIET REIGNS IN RHODESIAN CAPITAL TODAY

By LYNN HEINZERLING

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—The jailing of militant African nationalists continued Thursday night in this rich British territory but the Rhodesian capital remained disarmingly quiet.

Despite proclamation of a state of emergency Thursday, life went on much as usual. No troops were seen in the streets—and not even many policemen.

But some Africans warned that the arrests of between 250 and 500 African National party leaders in Southern Rhodesia were bound to have a bad effect on the two million blacks in this territory dominated by 176,000 whites.

Seize Leader

One of those seized was Daniel Mazimabuto, a coproducer of the film "African Drum Rolls" which drew its usual packed audience here Thursday night. He is director of the African Cultural Syndicate and a nationalist leader.

Salisbury is the capital of both this self-governing territory and the Central African Federation, which also includes the British protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

South Rhodesian Premier Sir Edgar Whitehead said he proclaimed the emergency to save the federation—a member of the British Commonwealth — from "extreme nationalism, which would be fatal." His aim obviously was to round up nationalist leaders.

Use Bow, Arrow To Cross River

TOWNSEND, Mont. (AP)—Telephone service was restored across the Missouri River today—by bow and arrow.

A light plane, flying along the river, snapped the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Co. rural line. The plane apparently was not damaged.

Repairman Ken O'Dell, using a 50-pound bow and an arrow tied to a nylon fishing line, spanned the river with one shot. It is 300 feet wide at that point. Heavy twine was tied to the line and pulled across. Then a hemp rope, and finally the heavy wire.

simmering since the British set up the federation six years ago, flared into the open over last weekend with five days of rioting. Three natives were killed and more than 50 injured.

Reports from Nyasaland said the violence had subsided with the arrival there of crack British-led African troops rushed from Salisbury by the Central Federation government.

INGRID COMING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Swedish actress Ingrid Bergman, absent from Hollywood for a decade, will appear on the Oscar awards show April 6, the Motion Picture Academy announced.

An Academy spokesman said she has accepted an invitation from the show's producer Jerry Wald, and probably will be accompanied from Europe by her new husband Lars Schmidt.

Files Complaints Against 3 Sons

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Richard Paulsich, 41, a jeweler and the father of six, filed a complaint of "incorrigibles" against three of his sons in Juvenile Court Thursday.

He charged they ignored him, threatened him and threw stones at him. The boys are 13, 15 and 16.

"In the last couple of years," said Paulsich, "they've been getting worse and worse. I don't know why. They could be good boys. I want them to get straightened out before they get into serious trouble."

Paulsich accused his sons of having drinking and gambling parties in his home. He said they threatened him when he objected.

CEILING TO BE RAISED BY PA.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Prospects for increasing the ceiling on state-aided school construction were viewed as good today by Rep. Stephen McCann, House Democratic leader.

But he expressed doubt that the Legislature would approve anything as high as the $2,500,000,000 ceiling proposed in a bill now before the House.

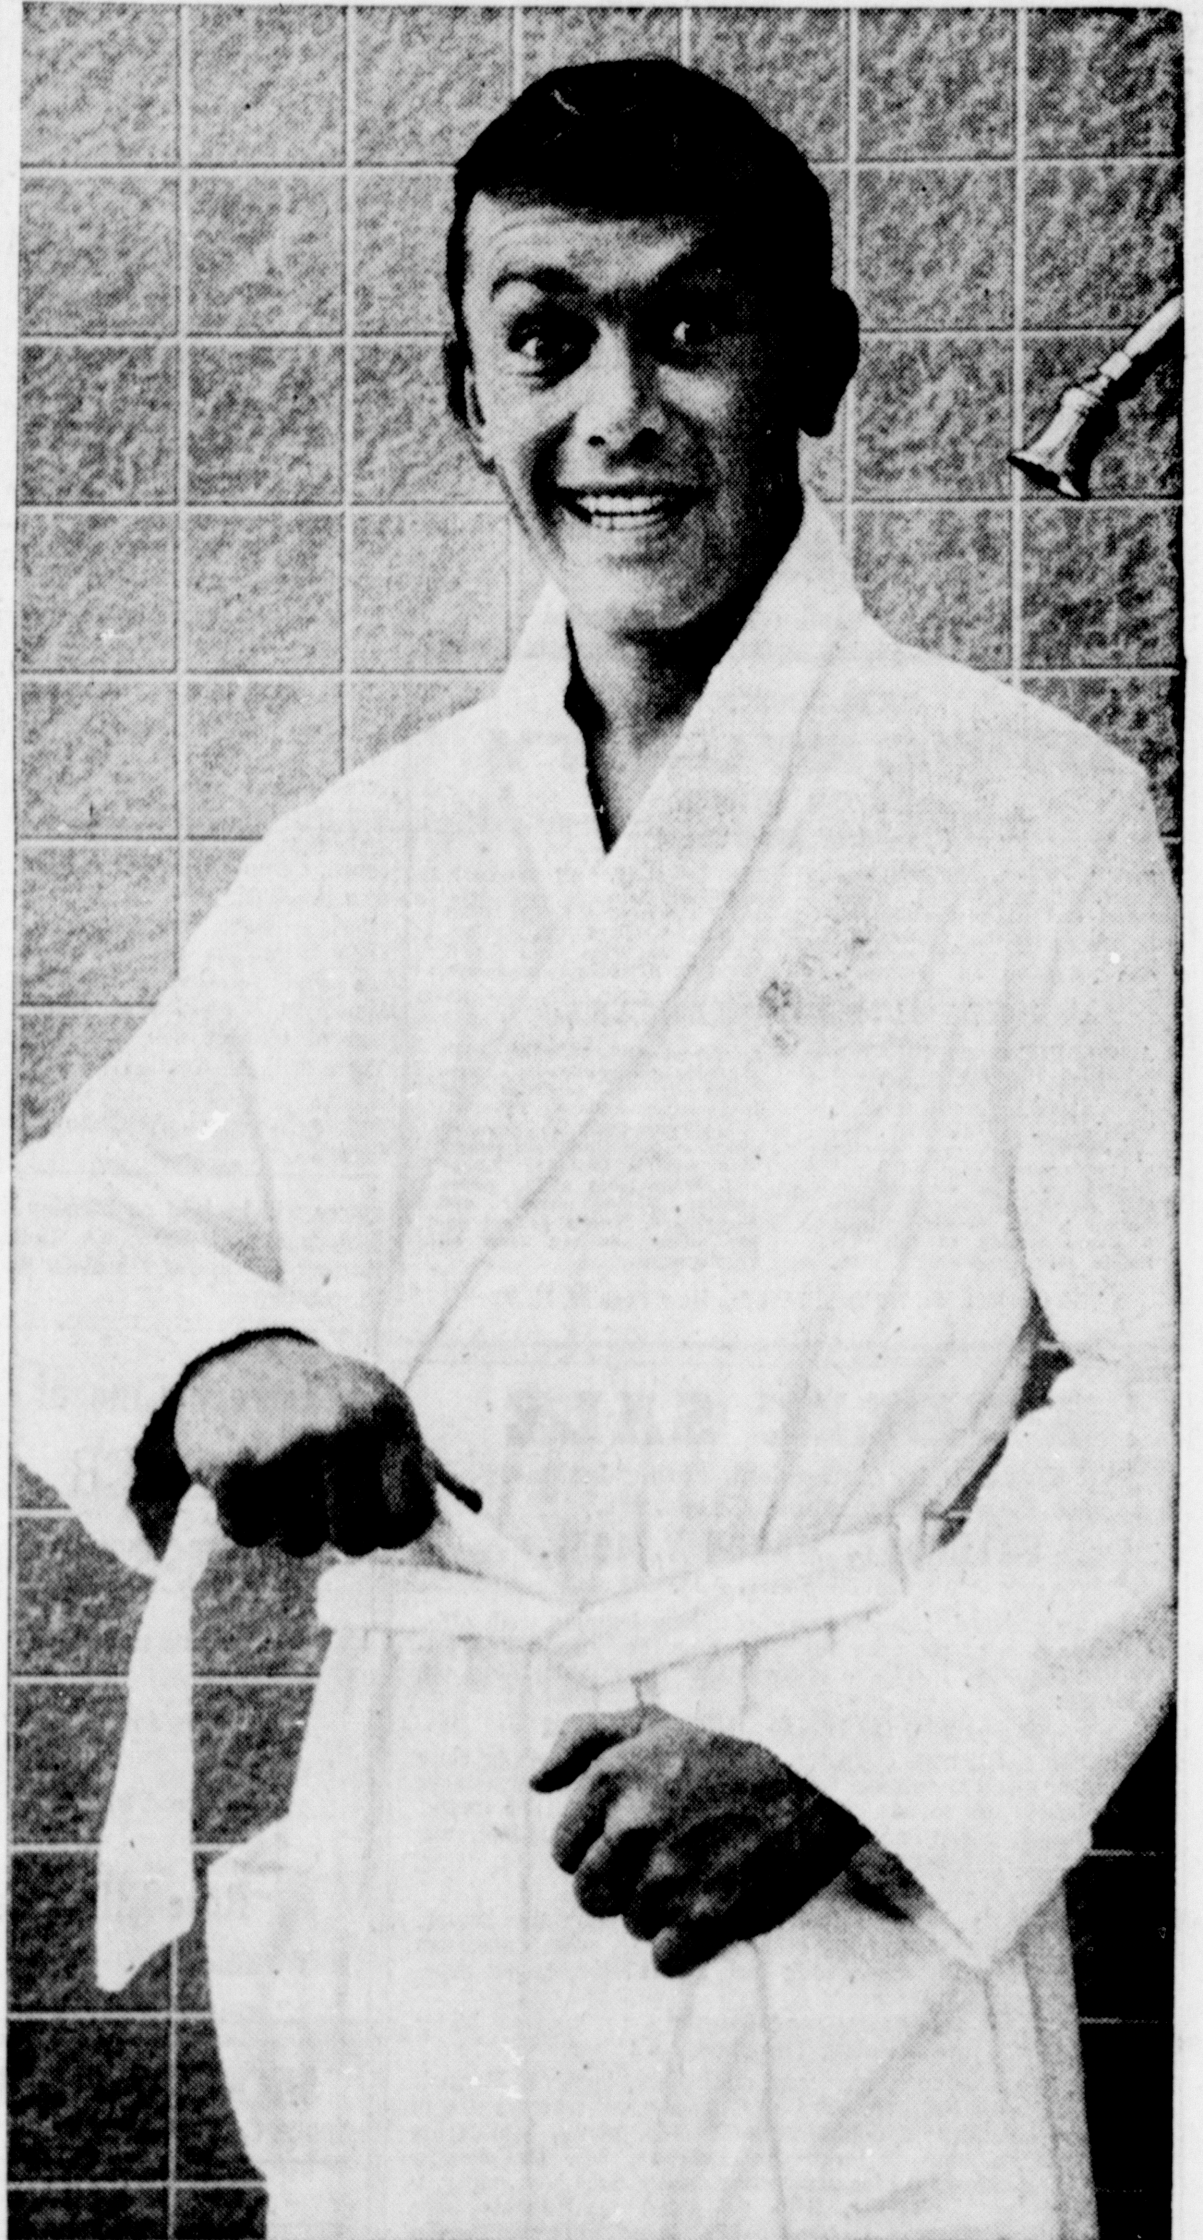

"The program on an exact amount has not been worked out yet," McCann said Thursday. "I don't think it will be that much, however."

He referred to legislation sponsored by Reps. Herman B. Willard (R—Montgomery) and Anthony J. Petrosky (D—Westmoreland). The present ceiling, already reached, is 925 millions.

The Public Instruction Department disclosed that 400 to 500 school building projects are awaiting legislative action on hiking the ceiling before further state aid can be disbursed.

State aid has been averaging about 50 per cent of the construction costs.

FAMILY FOOD ACTS

WESLEY R. KRIEBEL
Regional Marketing Agent
Agricultural Extension Service

Pork reigns as the undisputed market value in meats this week. You should find wide market choices available because bargains in one store will not necessarily be the same next door. Merchandisers have more room "to play around" this weekend than in weeks past. Beef and lamb are fractionally lower, with pork registering a two-year low. Livestock arrivals have been exceeding year ago receipts and most of it is heavier and better fed. This is due to the bumper crop of high quality grain harvested last fall. So, not only are consumers getting cheaper meat than a year ago this time but are getting more high quality meat.

Best buys in pork will be loin roasts, chops, ham and bacon. Look for quality when you are buying pork. Fresh pork should have a firm, fine-textured lean, and be grayish pink in color. The outside fat should be firm and white. The bones should be a reddish color. Beef prices have held relatively steady during the past few months but now prices are beginning to ease off a little at wholesale.

Pennies At Retail

These wholesale declines are only reflected in pennies at retail, though. For greatest economy when buying beef consider the "special" featured beef cuts at your favorite food store. This week many area stores will be featuring steak and chuck roasts. Of all red meat and poultry lines, only fryers are priced higher. For the second week in a row prices will be up a penny or two a pound. On the other hand, hen turkeys out of storage are priced lower per pound and some area stores will be featuring them.

Stocks of large eggs are in plentiful supply right now and in some cases backing up on dealers' hands. Prices generally range from 53 to 57 cents a dozen for large grade A. Medium sizes, a little short in supply, are priced just about the same as large sizes.

Significantly the value improvement in produce this week comes in terms of quality rather than price breaks, or in other words, more for your money. It will probably be another two weeks before we see lower price tags on southern vegetables barring adverse weather. As it is, Texas, a large vegetable producer for this area, is being hit by rains now. Best buys continue in cabbage, celery, carrots, leafy greens and potatoes. Lettuce remains a little expensive yet but endive and escarole are very reasonable substitutes. Tomatoes have never looked better at moderate prices. Cucumbers, peppers and onions will cost more this weekend.

Abundance Of Oranges

New crop Florida Valencia oranges are building up in volume and bidding against heavy supplies of California Navels. Grapefruit continues to be bargain priced. No changes noted in apple prices. Bananas are not over abundant and prices remain steady.

Supplies of canned vegetables the first half of this year will be larger than last year and well above average. Supplies of frozen items are slightly smaller than a year ago. Among the canned items, tomatoes and most tomato products are materially larger while those of green peas, snap beans and snauerkraut are up moderately. January 31 stocks of most frozen items, except snap beans, broccoli and French fried potatoes, were down from a year earlier.

BATHING SUITS AND JEANS ARE POPULAR WITH PAKISTAN MISS

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The only American clothes popular with the girls of Pakistan are blue jeans and bathing suits, says beautiful Sayeeda Kaiser, wife of the Pakistan consul general in New York.

For work, school or housework Pakistani women wear the saris, says Mrs. Kaiser, an effective model for the romantic Eastern dress.

At Pakistan House, the New York consulate, both she and glamorous Laique Khan, wife of the vice consul, wear beautifully draped saris of sheer flower-printed nylon.

Shopping's Wonderful
"We are having a wonderful time shopping in New York," said Mrs. Kaiser in an interview. "Particularly we appreciate the nylon fabrics for saris, since they are so easy to launder."

In Pakistan, a new country born of an ancient civilization, women now are taking their places in business and the professions, as doctors, lawyers, government workers, secretaries and nurses. There are more and more women students in the universities, and the old customs of segregation of women are disappearing.

Jeans And Swimsuits
Khawja M. Kaiser, the consul general, dark, handsome and youthful-looking, explains: "The taboos are breaking down under the needs of a changing society." Even after they are exposed to Western dress, most Pakistani girls prefer the graceful sari.

"For active sports we often wear your American jeans," Mrs. Kaiser adds. "And of course you can't swim in a sari, so all of us have American bathing suits — they are in great demand all over Pakistan."

up the usual fine winter weather. Last weekend it was too cold. The festival was set for this weekend.

But drizzle and cold weather most of the week killed off enthusiasm. Sponsors called it off and decided to wait until next year.

FINE EFFECTS OBTAINABLE IN OLD BRICK

By BOB GALLIMORE

Do you need a good backdrop for a cherished antique?

Would you like your new home to stand out from the rest without using a radical design or expensive materials?

Are you in the market for a distinctive patio?

If the answer to any or all of these questions is yes, consider using old bricks—antique bricks, some prefer to call them.

The weather-stained surfaces of old bricks, the broken edges and the colors mellowed by the years form a perfect backdrop for colonial furniture, braided rugs and fine old china and silver. The bricks are thus ideal for use in decorative walls.

They can be no less striking when used, in place of new brick, for entire houses, or for patios.

Cost Varies

The cost? Likely to be less than new brick if you live near the source, but just as likely to cost more if you live some distance away and shipping charges are involved.

That general expense estimate comes from Eugene D. Hadlock, who deals exclusively in old brick. Hadlock considers San Antonio, Tex., his home and maintains a house there. But he spends much of his time in Kansas City, where he also has a house, because that's where he gets most of his brick.

Why Kansas City? Because that Midwest metropolis has been demolishing hundreds of old brick buildings to clear the way for new freeways and other public improvements. Any city where large redevelopment projects are in progress, he points out, is likely to be a good source of old brick.

Types Differ

One of the most popular old bricks, Hadlock says, is a 9-pound vitrified paving brick that measures 3 by 4 by 9 inches.

These old bricks were baked in beehive kilns, and because of the unevenness of the heat did not come out all the same color. Those at the top, where the heat was the greatest, usually were deep purple. Moving toward the bottom, the colors faded off through browns and tans to a yellowish orange.

The old kilns also produced another effect which enhances the charm of paving bricks. The bricks near the firebox opening often became checked because they were subjected to intense heat before they were thoroughly dried. These checked and cracked bricks can be used for an extra touch by scattering them through a wall.

A Kansas City brick getting a big play in Texas actually was made in Louisiana in the days of slavery. It's a small, hand-shaped brick with a deep red tone. Some of the bricks have a few dark spots created by iron tracings in the clay. Hadlock says he learned the brick came to Kansas City in its earliest days as ballast in the old river boats.

Problem Taxpayers

A vexing problem for Hadlock, particularly on holidays, is the number of people who will back a truck or car up to a building being wrecked and make off with bricks he has already contracted for.

"These people seem to feel that because a public project is involved, they as taxpayers have salvage rights," he says. "Recently I caught a woman with the trunk of her convertible loaded so heavily the rear end practically dragged on the street. 'You can't stop me now!' exclaimed the woman. 'Why, this is my seventh load and I will need all of these to finish out my patio.'"

Cream cheese is too soft to grate but it can be sieved through a coarse wire strainer to make an intriguing looking garnish. A roadside sign at South Waterford, Maine, points directions to such nearby communities as Norway, Paris, Denmark, Naples, Sweden, Poland, Mexico, Peru and China. All are within a 100-mile radius.

THIS WAS AN UNUSED ATTIC CORNER before it was converted into a handy utility area with built-in desk, bookshelves, storage shelves and concealed storage space. The home project was completed in spare hours by James E. Walters, shown above with his daughter.

SEALER MAKES WOOD USABLE IN BATHROOM

Remember the good old days? When the lights went out, you went to the fuse box, gingerly pulled the switch cutting off the electricity, and then tried fuse after fuse on a hit or miss basis until you found the one which had blown out.

And maybe you didn't have any good fuses.

Well, those days are rapidly disappearing. For today, more and more homes are equipped with circuit breakers.

These devices look and work like a kitchen light switch. Instead of blowing a fuse when a wire is overloaded, the breaker automatically moves to the "off" position. To restore electrical service, all you have to do is flip the switch to "on." If the fault which caused the original interruption in power is still present, the breaker will continue to trip until the cause is corrected.

Handles Protected

There is no danger of getting an electrical shock from a circuit breaker. Handles are insulated and grounded. And unlike the old fuse box, you cannot try any of those dangerous tricks like inserting a fuse of a higher rating, or a penny, or a piece of tin-foil.

Breakers are safe, too. For acceptance, Underwriters Laboratories make it mandatory that a circuit breaker open and close without failure more than 10,000 times.

They are also economical. They compare favorably in cost of installation with fuse systems and MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A Rubens painting was badly damaged Thursday by an acid-throwing man who sent a reporter a letter warning he was about to strike in the famed Alte Pinakothek Gallery.

The reporter called police and the gallery but it was too late. Rubens' great "Descent to Hell of the Damned Ones" already was smeared with acid.

Experts looking sadly at the 17th Century Flemish master's painting said they doubted if the work could be restored.

Dr. Robert F. Goheen, youthful president of Princeton University, enlisted as a U. S. Army infantry private in World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star with two clusters.

There are no maintenance costs, no fuses to buy.

Release Yankee In Mystery Slaying

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—After six days in the Tijuana jail, an American was released Thursday after authorities announced he had been cleared of suspicion in the strangulation and dismemberment of a mystery woman.

The American, Richard N. Thomas, 34, a television repairman from La Puente, Calif., said he had no immediate plans to leave Mexico. "After all, I have no reason to run away," he said.

Thomas owns some race horses at the Agua Caliente track near Tijuana.

The headless torso of a woman, possibly an American, was found alongside a highway south of here Feb. 19. Other parts of the body also were found but the head and hands still are missing.

WALL PHONE GROWING IN POPULARITY

By BOB GALLIMORE

Wall telephones are more popular than ever, but they can present a problem: where to write notes, and where to keep the telephone book?

It's a problem easily solved by the do-it-yourselfer. The photograph shows how one home owner did it.

The materials: half-inch plywood for the two shelves and two lengths of 1-by-4 white pine to nail them to.

In this case the stand went into a corner, so it was made in the form of a triangle with a gracefully curved hypotenuse. The curve was produced by clamping the two shelves together and cutting both at the same time with a coping saw. It's a good idea to first make a cardboard pattern.

Bulletin Board

The lengths of 1-by-4 were used for the back of the stand. One screw in the back into each wall, both going through the plaster into the studding, holds the stand to the wall. For added support an ordinary 12-inch metal shelf bracket was screwed to the wall beneath the stand.

The addition of a bulletin board over the stand makes for a real family communication center.

In 1856 nearly 2,000 Mormon converts were gathered in Missouri waiting for wagon trains to take them on to Salt Lake City. The wagon trains didn't appear, so they bravely started out across the west, pushing their belongings in handcarts.

DESIGN NEW 3-CORNERED BRICK UNIT

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — The triangular brick is a new building idea, especially for walls and patios.

Made of concrete, the brick was developed by John Mason of Sacramento, and Donald Davison of Long Beach.

The men are engineering majors at California State Polytechnic College. They developed the structural unit as their senior project.

Each side of the equilateral brick is 11½ inches long. With mortar it becomes 12 inches. Mason and Davison said present methods for producing the brick are limited and somewhat more than ordinary care must be used in laying it.

Tremendous Possibilities
George Hasslein, head of the college's architectural engineering department, says he believes the new brick has "tremendous possibilities, especially for beautifying walls and patios."

"Wall architecture is turning more to aesthetic values and away from strictly utilitarian purposes," Hasslein says. "As a result, this brick has unlimited horizons."

Mason said the brick was developed "to provide a variation from other bricks on the market. Wall strength is comparable to any other and it can be used for any structure."

Cost Still High
Mason said commercial possibilities depend on less expensive production methods and the designing of a "corner brick" required by California law.

"At present our triangular bricks cost approximately 75 cents each. However, they offer some definite advantages," Mason says.

"Among other things, they eliminate need for horizontal steel."

Wood Valuable As Insulation

Wood can help you keep warm in winter and cool in summer. Building experts say a wood wall of 2 by 4-inch studding with lath

NEWLY-DESIGNED TRIANGULAR concrete brick, useful for walls and patios, is laid by John Mason of Sacramento, Calif. Mason, an architectural engineering major at California State Polytechnic, developed the brick with a fellow student, Donald Davison of Long Beach, Calif.

USE CONCRETE IN NOVEL WAY

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The texture concrete exterior walls of the first buildings going up on a new junior college campus may break the way for something new.

There are numerous rounded and plaster, 1-inch wood sheathing, building paper and bevel siding has about 25 per cent less heat loss in cold weather than an 8-inch furred brick wall with lath and plaster.

Wood windows also can assure less loss of inside heat in winter and less penetration of outside heat in summer, experts add, because wood frames provide a tight fit and do a better job of insulating than frames of other materials.

Insulation Helps Protect From Fire

Insulation in a home also is a safety factor.

Wall-thick mineral wool, for example, is accepted in building codes as a nonflammable fire stop. It makes it more difficult for a fire in the basement, where a great many of them start, to spread through the rest of the house.

During a fire, the air space between wall studs tends to act as a flue. A draft is generated in this space, drawing the fire upward. When this space is full of insulation material, the draft cannot form.

HOT REMINDER

GRANITE, Okla. (AP) — W. T. Cost, a retired minister, raises hot peppers in his flower garden as a hobby. Says Cost: "When I give friends a hot pepper to bite into, they never forget me; it really sets them on fire."

indentations as deep as half an inch in the walls, which are cast in forms and then raised into position.

The unique idea is the answer to a request by American River Junior College officials for attractive but inexpensive construction.

After the forms are built, a layer of small rocks is placed in side. A sheet of tough, thin plastic is placed over them, reinforcement rods are added and then the concrete is poured.

The concrete's weight presses down on the rocks, which leave their impression on it through the plastic. A wall, given two weeks to set, comes out with a high gloss.

The technique was developed by a Sacramento firm of architects.

Says Bill Priest, the college president: "Painting concrete is always unsatisfactory, due to the constant chipping of the paint."

"We have a finish here which will not need paint."

TWAIN MEET IN THIS HOME IN MICHIGAN

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — It's not completely Japanese, nor completely American, but rather a delightful marriage of the two. That's the home of Norman F. Carver Jr.

The architecture is an Americanized version of Japanese simplicity of design, and fluidity of living space.

The young architect, a graduate of Yale, developed his appreciation for Japanese design while serving with the Army in Japan. He later returned there for two years of study as a Fulbright scholar.

Japanese Idea

In his home, Carver retained the basic idea of Japanese architecture but adapted it to the American mode of life. Or looking at it from the opposite direction, he used American structural materials in such a way that they retained a semblance of the rhythmic poetry and natural simplicity of traditional Japanese architectural forms.

Two-Level Construction

"It's nothing very original,"

Carver says. "Architects have utilized it all over the world." But the result is pleasing to the eye.

Carver's three-bedroom home is built on two levels.

The Japanese tone is set at the north entrance with a roofless vestibule antecourt and a simplified Japanese rock garden arrangement.

From the south, the two-level construction is visible. Here, too, there is a strong suggestion of Japanese influence. While the home is built on a foundation of cement blocks, fir posts hint at stilt construction.

Materials are pure American, the outer walls being prefabricated asbestos cement board of a stone gray finish that never has to be painted. Beams and columns are stained a dark color to contrast with the lighter walls and emphasize the rhythmic patterns.

Inside the home, the traditional Japanese fluidity is captured by partitions suggestive of Japanese shojis (sliding screens).

Carver's collection of Japanese art items contribute atmosphere. A subdued color scheme is followed. Unpainted brown hardboard is used for sliding doors on closets, kitchen cabinets, and the high storage wall which divides the living and dining areas. Built-in wooden platforms cov-

Cost Average Poor Yardstick

You can throw away the averages when building a home. From the standpoint of cost, there's really no such thing as an average house.

In Chicago, for example, where labor costs are currently high, you will pay about $12.51 per square foot to build a standard house. In Dallas, on the other hand, the cost estimate is only $8.04 per square foot for the same basic house.

erred with cushions serve as sofas in the living room area. Chests also are built-in. At the same time, however, modern furniture, appliances and bathroom fixtures are used.

Carver's approach also adopts the low-cost techniques of Japanese construction. The home, fully equipped with the exception of stove and refrigerator, cost about $17,250, somewhat below the cost for the usual ranch style home with equivalent space and facilities.

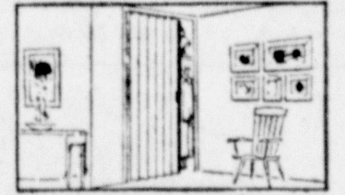

The U. S. State Department has made movies of the home for showing in Japan on television.

Seek Simplified Method For "Trading In" House

By NORMAN P. MASON
Commissioner
Federal Housing Administration

The continued upward trend of "Americans on the move" has made it increasingly evident that steps must be taken to simplify our system of house trading.

Today when a man trades in his old car for a new one — or another used one — he merely signs a few papers right on the showroom floor and drives out with a new automobile. It is not that simple when it comes to trading real estate.

Simplified Trading

The Federal Housing Administration believes that the time has come to do something to simplify the process of house trading. We believe the housing industry needs a type of "financing from the floor" similar to that used by automobile dealers. Present methods of swapping an old house for a new or larger one are too costly to the buyer and result in excessive delays and excessive taxation. They certainly are confusing to the buyer, who can't understand all the closing costs involved.

With about 35 million Americans moving every year (the Census Bureau says one out of five persons moved last year), this problem is being greatly compounded.

Lower Closing Costs

We at FHA think the home

buyer who is trading in a house should realize more from the equity he has built up in his previous home. We would like to cut in half, at least, the double closing costs now involved in such trades.

Another paramount goal we are striving for is improvement in the quality of American homes. Price tags in themselves do not mean much unless the home buyer can be assured that he is getting the quality he is paying for.

Improved Quality

We are urging the housing industry to improve the quality of homes — to provide homes with improved design that will give them lasting value. We want the homes to be attractively located, well landscaped and of improved construction. We want them located to the best advantage of the buyers in relation to their families' community needs. We want what they have purchased.

We are making it possible for builders to provide better quality in FHA-insured homes by updating and revising our minimum property standards. Some of the outmoded and wasteful requirements of the past have been eliminated.

New flexibility is being given to the builder and the home owner. New building materials and building techniques are recognized. Provision is being made for larger rooms, more storage space, wider halls, lower ceilings, mechanical ventilation and arti-

FRAMING VOID CONVENIENT FOR STORAGE

Need convenient storage space for small items?

There's almost unlimited amounts to be had simply and cheaply inside the average garage or other areas around the house with exposed-to-view framing.

This framing, or studding, usually is of 2-by-4 construction. The trick is to install short pieces of the same material (about 14½ inches long) between these studs and flush against the wall covering.

Narrow though it is, this type shelf is ideal for storing paint cans, jars, small boxes, tools and the like.

The shelves, nailed into two adjoining 2-by-4s with 16 penny nails, can be installed at any convenient distance apart. For a custom touch—or to keep items like garden chemicals out of children's reach, plywood doors can be installed.

Fitting Door

First, cut the plywood so it will cover the entire area to be framed. Draw a line on one end to correspond to the thickness of one 2-by-4. Install hinges along this line just as if the plywood already was cut into two pieces. Remove the hinges, cut the plywood exactly along the line, re-install the hinges and you have a perfectly fitted door. Then place the entire door unit over the shelves and fasten the smallest piece into the 2-by-4 with nails or wood screws.

The 2-by-4s you buy for the shelves may be slightly wider than the ones the home-builder used. In this case, it will be necessary to plane them.

Similar shelves or cabinets in a workshop can be used for tool storage. Drill holes through which the tool handles are inserted.

EQUINE METHUSELAH

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — The day a horse named Fleet died, Dr. Randall Knox said the animal must have been 50 years old.

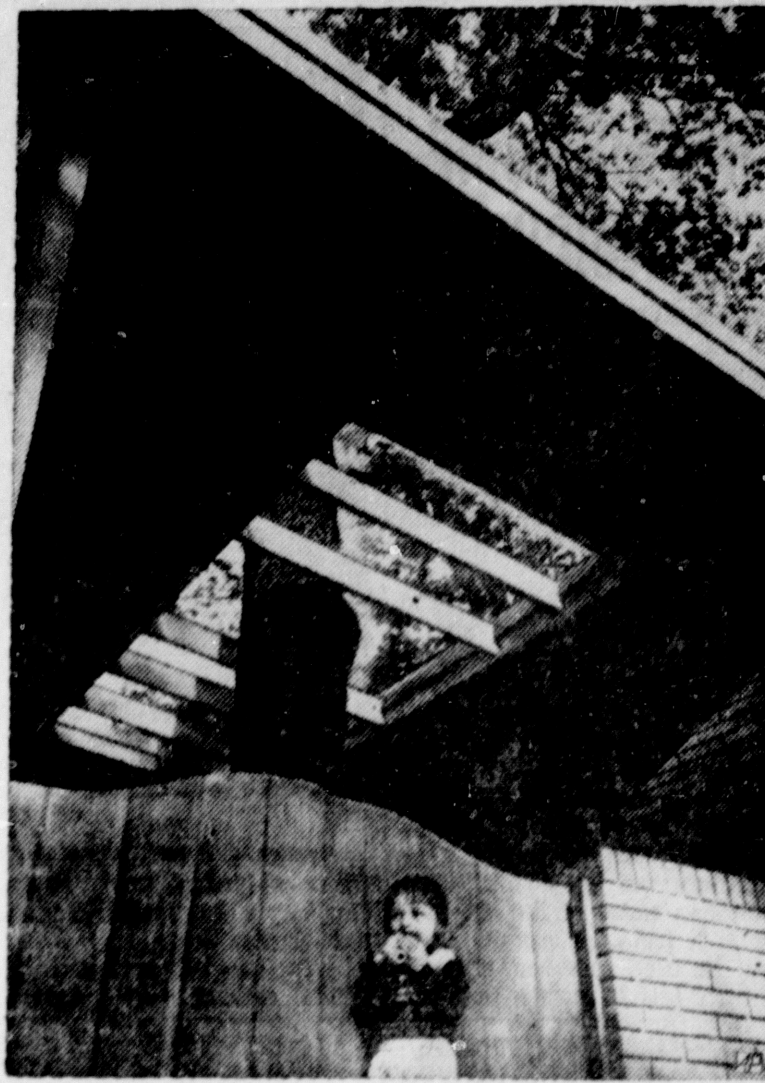

Dr. Knox had owned the horse for 20 years and said he was told it was born the day the United States Navy's Great White fleet sailed into San Diego bay. That was in 1908. Veterinarians say the average life of a well cared for horse is 20 years.

cial lighting can now be put to better use (this will make possible greater flexibility in design of kitchens, baths, laundry and utility rooms).

Aid To The Builder

While there are no sweeping changes in our new minimum property standards, they do represent new ways FHA is helping the builder to provide better living conditions for home buyers.

FHA, which next June will celebrate its 25th anniversary of providing mortgage insurance on property improvement and home loans, believes these new steps and others to come will provide better quality housing for Americans.

"SPARE THAT TREE" said Robert G. Nau of Columbus, Ind., to his contractor, and spare it he did. He simply built the house ground around the tree. The tree is in an entrance court leading to the front door of the home. You can look upward through the opening in the roof into the branches that house an owl and a nest of blackbirds and provide a playground for neighborhood squirrels. The little gal munching the apple by the front entrance is Barbara Nau, daughter of the owner.

MATCHING OF APPLIANCES DESIGN TREND

Have you heard about the housewife who couldn't get matching handles for range, refrigerator and dishwasher?

She became so frustrated she refused to buy until she could coordinate the appearance of the appliances she needed. She was upset, the man of the house was upset and the appliance dealer was upset.

For a long time no appliance producer thought enough of her problem to come to her rescue.

Coordinated Line

But there are signs her unhappiness may be eased somewhat with pre-packaged built-in kitchen appliances now available.

Prime producer in the field, Chambers Built-Ins, Inc., has the nation's first complete line of matched units in gas and electric ovens, surface cooking units, automatic dishwashers, refrigerator-freezers, disposers and ventilating hoods.

A. H. Scheffer says the units are made to live together.

Scheffer is confident the coordinated units will stimulate new interest in home-building.

With suburban areas developing fast, home builders are including appliances in planned kitchens and burying the cost in the mortgage.

The homemaker can plan her own kitchen and for the first time has available matched appliances coordinated in design, color, materials, styling and finish.

A Selling Point

The builder has an opportunity to plan kitchens for homes in a wide range of models. He has learned through experience that the kitchen is the first place a prospective buyer inspects. He wants to make it as attractive as possible.

There is a choice of finishes, including antique copper (metallic), satin chrome and copperluxe. The refrigerator-freezer units range from 8 to 30 cubic foot

RIGHT PAINT, TIME NEEDED FOR BEST JOB

Exterior walls may be of wood, masonry, metal sheeting, asphalt shingles, or asbestos cement. There's a right paint for each. Most homes have a wood exterior in the form of clapboard siding, wood shingles, or vertical siding. The usual finish is one that hides the wood completely.

The number of coats will depend on the condition of the old paint job. If it is in good condition, it is only necessary to apply a coat of primer to bare spots and then follow with a single coat. If badly weathered, a coat of primer and two coats of paint may be needed — the same procedure as for new wood.

Prepare Surface

Some of today's house paints are designed to be self-cleaning. They chalk gradually and the outer layer to which the dirt adheres washes away. Caution should be observed for such self-cleaning paints will stain any masonry below them.

Before painting, check the surface to see that it is sound, smooth and — if metal — rust-free. All loose dirt should be removed with a brush and loose rust wire-brushed away. Where old paint has scaled or blistered, it should be scraped. New or bare wood must be primed. Use the primer suggested by the manufacturer of the paint you are using.

Where there are knots or sappy streaks in new wood, a special knot sealer should be brushed on before the priming coat. Loose joints and cracks should be filled with caulking compound.

Low Humidity

The best time to paint is during capacity and fit flush with woodwork. Units are not sealed in the wall so they can be pulled out for servicing.

Door facings on the units can be decorated in matching wood panels or gay fabrics.

BEAUTIFY AND PROTECT HOME BY PAINTING

There are two good reasons to paint: to protect the home and to beautify it.

Both are good business, for painting increases the value of the home.

If you plan to do the job yourself, here are some tips.

Your best friend is your paint dealer. He can tell you how much paint to buy, what kind of paint to apply to each surface, and acquaint you with the new paints which will make your job easier and longer lasting.

Read instructions on each can of paint carefully and follow them implicitly. The manufacturer ing a dry spell when humidity is low. But don't paint when the temperature is below 40 degrees. Try to follow the sun around the house and do not paint in the direct rays of the sun. Paint west and north sides in the mornings, east and south in the afternoons.

Start painting at an upper corner of the house, usually the left-hand corner. Some experts advise painting as far to the right as you can reach and work down to ground level.

knows best how his paint should be applied, whether it should be thinned and what type thinner to use.

Use Right Tools

The painting job will be easier with the right type brushes. For the outside of the house, a 3½ to 4-inch brush is recommended for large areas, a 2½ to 3-inch for trim, a 1 to 2-inch angular sash tool for around windows. Inside, a 4-inch brush or 7-inch roller is generally recommended.

Your dealer may mix the paint on a machine. If not, first pour the top liquid into another container. Stir the remainder until smooth. Gradually add the liquid, stirring constantly until it has a uniform consistency. Finish by pouring back and forth from one container to another.

In applying the paint, dip about one-third the length of the bristles into the paint, tapping off the excess against the inside of the can. Use rhythmic back and forth strokes, lifting the brush gradually at the end of each stroke so you don't deposit a thick edge of paint.

Always apply paint to an unpainted area and work into the wet edge. The professional will deposit several spots of paint and join them together. When a section has been covered, go over it with light, quick strokes to smooth brush and lap marks and to re-coat thin spots.

Using a Roller

In using a roller, first paint

a strip around the edge of ceiling, windows and woodwork with a brush. Pour the mixed paint into the roller tray, covering about two-thirds of the bottom. Roll the applicator in the paint, covering it evenly. Start on a dry spot and roll toward the wet edges, first in one direction and then the other. Smooth out by cross-rolling lightly.

Try to finish each day's painting at a window or corner so lap marks will not show.

When painting windows be sure to move the sash before the paint has dried completely to prevent sticking.

MATCHING OF APPLIANCES DESIGN TREND

Have you heard about the housewife who couldn't get matching handles for range, refrigerator and dishwasher?

She became so frustrated she refused to buy until she could coordinate the appearance of the appliances she needed. She was upset, the man of the house was upset and the appliance dealer was upset.

For a long time no appliance producer thought enough of her problem to come to her rescue.

Coordinated Line

But there are signs her unhappiness may be eased somewhat with pre-packaged built-in kitchen appliances now available.

Prime producer in the field, Chambers Built-Ins, Inc., has the nation's first complete line of matched units in gas and electric ovens, surface cooking units, automatic dishwashers, refrigerator-freezers, disposers and ventilating hoods.

A. H. Scheffer says the units are made to live together.

Scheffer is confident the coordinated units will stimulate new interest in home-building.

With suburban areas developing fast, home builders are including appliances in planned kitchens and burying the cost in the mortgage.

The homemaker can plan her own kitchen and for the first time has available matched appliances coordinated in design, color, materials, styling and finish.

A Selling Point

The builder has an opportunity to plan kitchens for homes in a wide range of models. He has learned through experience that the kitchen is the first place a prospective buyer inspects. He wants to make it as attractive as possible.

There is a choice of finishes, including antique copper (metallic), satin chrome and copperluxe. The refrigerator-freezer units range from 8 to 30 cubic foot

RIGHT PAINT, TIME NEEDED FOR BEST JOB

Exterior walls may be of wood, masonry, metal sheeting, asphalt shingles, or asbestos cement. There's a right paint for each. Most homes have a wood exterior in the form of clapboard siding, wood shingles, or vertical siding. The usual finish is one that hides the wood completely.

The number of coats will depend on the condition of the old paint job. If it is in good condition, it is only necessary to apply a coat of primer to bare spots and then follow with a single coat. If badly weathered, a coat of primer and two coats of paint may be needed — the same procedure as for new wood.

Prepare Surface

Some of today's house paints are designed to be self-cleaning. They chalk gradually and the outer layer to which the dirt adheres washes away. Caution should be observed for such self-cleaning paints will stain any masonry below them.

Before painting, check the surface to see that it is sound, smooth and — if metal — rust-free. All loose dirt should be removed with a brush and loose rust wire-brushed away. Where old paint has scaled or blistered, it should be scraped. New or bare wood must be primed. Use the primer suggested by the manufacturer of the paint you are using.

Where there are knots or sappy streaks in new wood, a special knot sealer should be brushed on before the priming coat. Loose joints and cracks should be filled with caulking compound.

BOOK AND WILL HELP BUTCHER BUILD HOUSE

HAMBURG, N. Y. (AP)—Mr. Gurney's dream house will always be known by the three Gurney daughters as "the house Daddy and the public library built."

Completion date for the big ranch house on a wooded lot near this Buffalo suburb still is a year or two away. But when it comes, it will really pack a satisfying wallop, because Joseph Gurney, his wife and three girls will have done the job themselves.

The public library in Buffalo has been Gurney's big source of building information. He's read about 60 books so far and the end is not in sight. At the moment, he's getting the rough wiring and plumbing under way—assisted by the library, of course.

Sincere Desire
Would Gurney, a butcher by trade, recommend this ultimate in do-it-yourself projects to others?

"Only if they have a sincere desire," he says. "If someone pushes you into it, you'll lose heart very fast. I really wanted to build a house, and I get great satisfaction from watching it take shape."

The biggest mistake the amateur builder can make according to Gurney, is to approach the job casually. You've got to examine each step carefully and understand it fully before starting. "That's why it takes so long," he says. "You have to follow the rules very close."

Big Rooms
The Gurneys' big complaint about the "store-bought" house they still occupy is that the rooms are too small. No such complaint will hold water in the new house. The living room will be 19-by-26 feet and the dining-l a comfortable 11-by-13.

There will be a stone fireplace with a raised hearth. The bedroom wing will have a bath-and-a-half. Gurney hired a crew for the excavation back in 1956. But from that point on, he has been his own electrician and plumber.

The savings? About 50 per cent, he figures. Occasionally Gurney has a second thought. He looks at daughters Patricia, 15, Carol, 12, and Sharon, 9, and says to himself, "Maybe I should have waited for a son-in-law or two."

Pennsy Will Build More Freight Cars

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad has approved an extensive freight car building program, the first such undertaking since last year's business slump. The program includes 5,300 gondola cars, 4,900 box cars, 500 stock cars and 300 flat cars which will be manufactured at the PRR's shops in Altoona, Pa.

The PRR said Wednesday the work has already started and 500 covered hopper cars have been completed. Nearly all the 11,500 cars are expected to be in service this year.

HOUSEPOWER PROBLEM CAN BE CORRECTED

Four out of every five homeowners live with the tormenting problem of low housepower. Most of us are familiar with the symptoms of inadequate electrical wiring: fuses that blow out, lights that flicker mysteriously, and appliances that don't work as well as the guarantee says they should.

In the last 10 years the consumption of electricity in the home has tripled. The most modest estimates for the next 10 years predict it will double.

The reason is obvious. A few years ago there were 30 to 40 appliances on the market. Today there are nearly a hundred. Electrical wiring and wiring equipment have also changed. In addition to ordinary wiring, there are new wiring devices: automatic dimmers, weatherproof outlets, remote control panels and time delay switches.

Consult A Specialist
If your house suffers from low housepower, you may wish to contact an electrician or a housepower specialist. Your electrical utility can give you a list of qualified individuals.

The housepower specialist is an electrical contractor who plans your electric system with the same care your architect takes when he designs your home. Most homeowners fear wiring renovation means renewal of every bit of wiring in the home. Actually, your present wires can still serve many of your electrical needs.

A quick check of your service entrance will give you an idea of the power in your system. Amperes and voltage are usually labeled on your circuit breaker or fuse box. Obsolete wiring is a 30 ampere service entrance. Sixty amperes, common in many new houses, allows lighting, plug-in appliances and a range. But it would have to be enlarged before major appliances could be added.

MODERN LIVING REQUIRES higher housepower, a fact evident in this ultra-modern kitchen. With major electrical appliances, such as the range, and the new light switches which permit you to regulate the volume of light by dial, more power is needed.

Measuring The Need
Only two years ago a 100 ampere system was considered sufficient for the average family's electrical needs, but the electrical picture has expanded so rapidly it is impossible to set any specific standard. The best way to determine your needs, say housepower specialists, is to decide how you want to live electrically. This means listing the extent of your present lights and appliances and the possible electrical additions you will make in the next few years.

WOOD RESISTS MOISTURE IN BATHROOMS

Bathrooms have come a long way since that day not so long ago when it was popular to pattern them after hospitals with the walls and fixtures an antiseptic white.

The first step toward integration of the bathroom into the decorating scheme of the rest of the home was the addition of color. Now wood paneling is making its entry into the field.

Properly finished and installed, wood resists the moisture and temperature changes caused by hot showers and baths. Its easy workability permits installation of built-in units—under-basin cabinets, closets and shelves. The first important step in installing wood paneling in bathrooms, or other locations subject to dampness, is the application of an initial coat of penetrating sealer, varnish or paint. The initial coating should be applied to cover the face, back and all ends and edges of the paneling. It should be allowed to dry thoroughly before the paneling is nailed into place.

Applying Paneling

When applying the paneling to tile walls, a nailing surface must be provided. For vertical paneling, at least four horizontal strips 1 by 2 inches should be used. These may be fixed to wood nailing blocks, to wood lath set in a mortar joint, or to metal nailing inserts. The strips should be placed at the top and bottom with two between, about two feet apart.

The paneling should butt the base and cornice moulding. Paneling should be face nailed with the nails countersunk and wood filler applied to the nail holes.

After installation, the paneling should be cleaned with 3/0 or 4/0 garnet paper to remove dirt

DREAM FUTURE IN STORE WITH ELECTRONICS

Electronics, the same science that smashed the atom, sent rockets soaring into space and opened the way for a submarine to cruise beneath the Arctic icecap, is working to improve the home.

Only a few years ago, we did not visualize air conditioning, television, hi-fi, automatic washing machines and cooking ranges. Yet, the appliances of tomorrow which are on designers' tables at the moment are equally fantastic.

Here are some examples:

In 1970, you will return home from work and hang your suit or dress in a special dry cleaning closet. Next day, it will be clean and fresh without any effort on your part.

Electronic Dusting
Tired of dusting? In the near future, homes will be dust free with a new electronic appliance that takes dust out of the air.

Electric heating systems will permit you to select individual temperatures for each room.

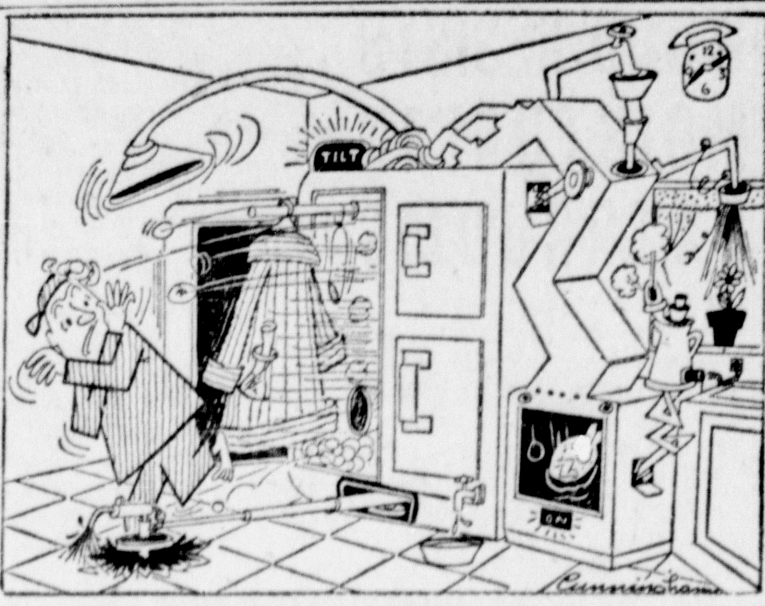

Instead of having a refrigerator in one unit, you will be able to refrigerate drawers, cupboards, even areas outside the kitchen. Closets will have units to permit cold storage of winter clothing.

In some cases the new type of refrigeration will be mated with the automatic range. A timing device will slide your prepared meal out of the refrigerated section and into the oven.

Waterless Washing
New laundry devices will use ultrasonic energy, eliminating the use of water and simply drawing dirt and grime from clothing with energy.

The vacuum cleaner will clean a room by itself, and in addition wash and wax the floors.

Driveways, the eaves of the ELECTRONIC HOMES OF THE FUTURE will have their share of hazards. AP Newsfeatures Artist Joe Cunningham shows what might happen to an ice-box raider.

house and sidewalks will be wired to melt ice and snow.

You will sleep under an electric canopy that heats in winter and cools in summer.

Electric Locks
Doors and windows will lock electrically. You will be able to re-run favorite television shows.

Electric living in the home will be only a part of the vast role electricity will assume in an even greater and more widening circle.

Economists have already pointed to the freedom possible in our daily work patterns because of new electronic marvels. Sociologists are delving into the development of man's higher resources once tedious and time consuming tasks at home and at work can be eliminated.

A recent symposium in London discussed the use of electronic computers in law and medical offices to help in routine consultation work. Computers of this type would eliminate chance and sort out the legal case histories needed or the diseases fitting a set of symptoms.

HILCO HOMES EXPANDS OVER WIDER AREAS

Hilco Homes has become a well-known business in this area. The selling of pre-cut materials and contracting for the construction of homes began in 1953 when the Hog Island Lumber Company of Philadelphia awarded a franchise to V. C. Hughes in Gettysburg. The office was moved to Guernsey and the business has been operated from there since then.

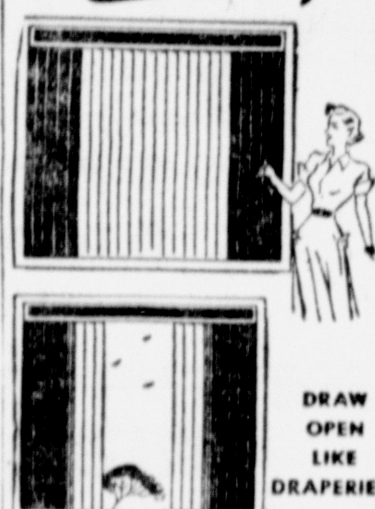

Covering an area of 9,000 miles it was necessary to enlarge the selling staff and L. Cummins, of Hanover; George Hartzell, of Chambersburg; All Weather Builders, of Gettysburg; and Bruce Wagaman, in Carlisle, and agents in York and Hagerstown and Hampstead, Md., cover areas nearest them.

Pre-cut and panelized, the homes are easy and economical to build. The material is guaranteed to be FHA approved as well as the construction methods. The homes are shipped with drawn and written instructions.

CLEAN BRUSH AFTER EACH PAINTING JOB

By LEONARD A. UNGER

The painting job is done. You're tired. It's a great temptation to stick the paint brush into a fruit jar.

But for the sake of the brush, don't do it.

Try to clean the brush as soon as you finish painting. The longer you wait, the tougher the task will be. Here is a three-step method that will get the job done quickly:

Step 1: Run the brush along the inside lip of the paint can. You'll be surprised how much paint is salvaged. Next, squeeze the bristles into a newspaper held by the other hand. Twist the brush out of the newspaper's grasp.

Use Turpentine

Step 2: Spread a couple of pieces of newspaper on the garage or basement floor. Spread the bristles of the brush by downward pressure on the brush handle. Turpentine or mineral spirits should be poured sparingly onto the bristles and the brush turned briskly to make certain the turpentine reaches every bristle. Don't use gasoline or kerosene; they will soften the rubber base of the brush into which the bristles are fitted. Use as much turpentine as is necessary to loosen all the paint pigment.

Step 3: This is the final and key operation. Squeeze out the turpentine left on the brush. Holding the brush upside down, spread apart the bristles. Pour some laundry detergent (powdered, not liquid) into the cup you've formed from the spread bristles. Work the detergent down into the base of the bristles and then stick the brush under the water faucet. Work your fingers into the bristles from the inside out. Repeat the operation until the rinse water runs clean. Shake out the excess for up to $2,000 in construction funds on a Hilco mortgage, entire amount including including materials not to exceed $6,000. On a small family home this would enable the owner to have the foundation and home put under roof; plumbing, heating and wiring materials supplied and the home could be finished at owner's leisure with no time limit on completion.

A new housing program for the elderly has been instituted. The down payment can be borrowed on this plan as long as the applicant can pay the monthly payment. In addition to the former departments FHA now has separate sections for existing and new properties, valuation department, land planning division, subdivision service, all free of charge.

More than 200 homes have been built or contracted by Hilco for prices ranging from $6,500 to $45,000.

NO SADNESS AS SACK, CHEMISE ARE RULED OUT

PARIS (AP) — The American woman has final proof today that fashion is really back to normal in the release of the first pictures of the new Paris creations.

The "natural line" which swept the spring showings like a refreshing and welcome breeze is centered on a normal waistline. Gone — and the designers hope forgotten — are the sacks, chemises, trapezes and all silhouette exaggerations.

Skirts are longer than last season, but not much. At least they cover the kneecap, usually with a couple of inches to spare.

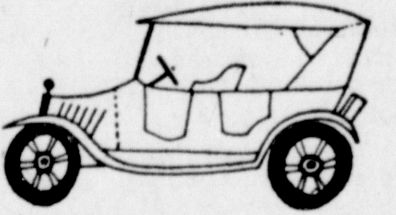

Singleminded
Paris high fashion houses have seldom been so united and single minded about a new style. When the season got under way with small, belted waistlines and a natural silhouette in the Heim Patou and Cardin shows, the trend was firmly set. Laroche, Balmain, Lanvin, Castillo, Motta and the others fell into step. Still, some experts wondered if Dior's young designer Yves Saint Laurent would follow.

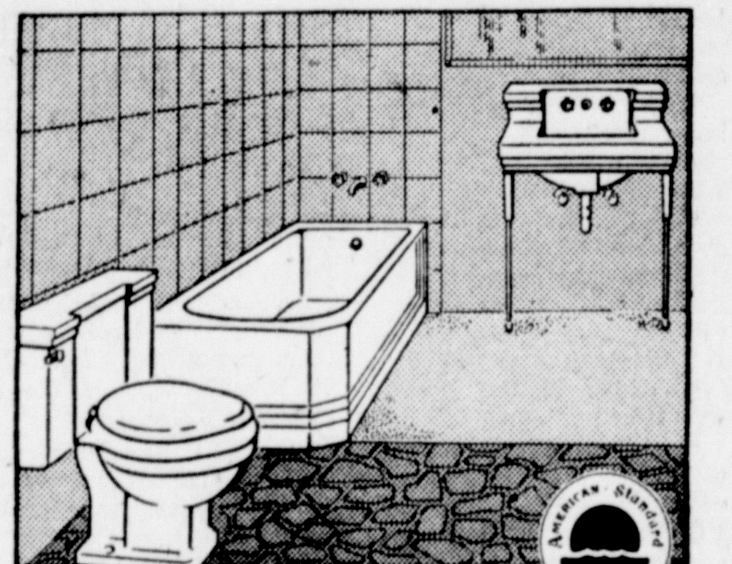

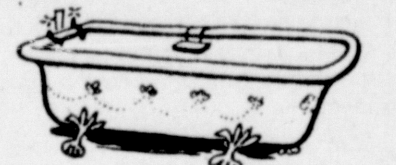

He did, and unofficially christened the season's silhouette when he named his own version the "natural line." The other houses must have breathed a sigh of relief.

What the spring styles may lack in breath-taking originality, they make up in pure figure flattery. These are clothes for everybody, becoming to good figures, kind to bad ones. No woman needs to have second doubts about stepping out in dresses and suits that minimize the waistline and soften the bust and hips.

INSTRUMENT HOUSE HELPS RESEARCHERS

By EDWARD S. KITCH

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Home air conditioning and heating problems are under study at the University of Illinois in a scientific house.

The new research residence is a multi-level home with eight rooms and two and a half baths. One of two garages is used as instrument room for the two-year investigation.

Its occupants — J. Richard Wright, 24; Mrs. Wright, 23, and son David, 11 months — live amid electronic recording instruments.

By the time David is old enough to go to college, many of the findings resulting from this fourth year-round air conditioning research residence will be applied in new homes.

Daily Checks

Daily, researcher Wright checks instruments in the house connected by eight miles of wire to 475 temperature measuring locations.

The University of Illinois is a pioneer in the field of investigating home temperatures. Its first warm air heating research residence was occupied in 1924.

Sponsored by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Assn., the project will try to problems that confront architects who work with the complexities of modern home design.

Its tri-level design, according to surveys, is the choice of 80 per cent of all Americans seeking a new home.

Its wall construction consists of cedar shake siding, insulating sheathing two-inch glass fiber insulation and interior dry wall panel.

Ceiling Insulated

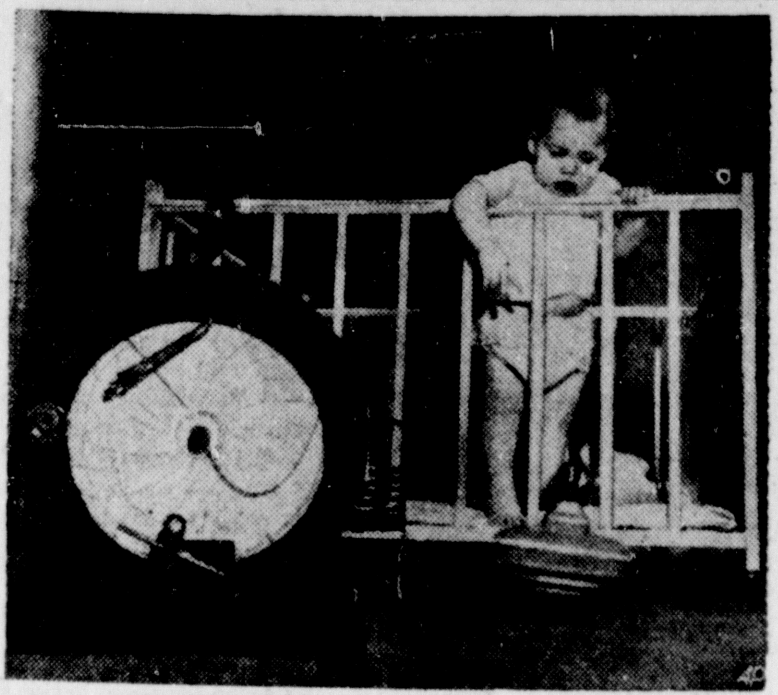

The ceiling is insulated with four-inch glass fiber insulation. A portion of the ceiling insulation is enclosed in aluminum foil to permit study of the reduction of heat loss and heat gain.

Storm sash are provided for all windows and doors. A double-glazed aluminum sliding door is used between dining room and patio.

The house is considered representative of present-day construction.

A wide, open stairway was installed to determine why such stairways tend to cause air to move to lower levels, creating local areas of discomfort.

Record Solar Heat

A pyrheliometer and recorder record the amount of solar energy received on the weather surfaces of the house.

A cup type anemometer and recorder obtain records of wind velocity, which affects the amount of air leakage around window cracks and other openings in the structure. The direction of the wind is also noted.

The amount of heat flowing through walls and ceilings is measured by heat flow meters placed between the insulation and finished ceiling and on the interior surfaces of the walls. These meters measure the amount of heat flowing into or out of the house.

In addition, instruments measure pressure at various points in the duct system, the amount of electricity and gas used by the occupants and also by the furnace and cooling unit.

Instruments also check the velocity of the air in the lived-in portion of the rooms and the length and frequency furnace and cooling unit are in operation.

NAMES MRS. LUCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clare Boothe Luce, former envoy to Italy, was nominated by President Eisenhower Thursday to be ambassador to Brazil.

In Rio de Janeiro, Mrs. Luce would succeed career diplomat Ellis O. Briggs who will be assigned later to a new post.

Mrs. Luce served as ambassador to Italy from 1953 to 1957. She retired from that post because of ill health.

HEATING WITH ELECTRICITY ECONOMICAL

By HAROLD CARLSON

Heat the house with electricity? I couldn't afford it!

The manager of a Wyoming Rural Electric Company had just suggested that I heat a new house, in the planning stage, entirely by electricity. I'd given no thought to this type of heat because, like most of us, I assumed that the cost would be beyond consideration, especially in the rugged climate of Wyoming.

Some quick calculations confirmed this—or so I thought at the time. I knew a kilowatt of electricity could be converted into heat with 100 per cent efficiency, and that only about 70 per cent of the heat in oil could be so converted. Assuming power would be available for heating at 14 cents a kilowatt hour and that No. 2 fuel oil would cost about 17 cents per gallon, I figured electric heating would cost over twice as much as oil heat. Considerable research has proved this calculation was only a small part of the story.

No Heat Loss

With electric heat, the amount delivered to different rooms can be precisely controlled by individual room thermostats, without affecting the efficiency of the heating system as a whole. The electricity will be 100 per cent converted to usable heat, right where it is to be used. This will remain true regardless of the heating load. There are no losses in bringing the heat from a central furnace to the point of use. The cost of installing electric heat is much less than other types.

This substantial difference in installation cost, amortized over a 10-year period cost of heating during this time. The annual cost of servicing a furnace, normally $25 to $50, also can be credited toward the cost of electric heating that essentially requires no servicing at all.

Electric heat requires no space for a furnace, for radiators, grills or stacks. All this space becomes usable living, or storage, space. In operation, electric heat is the ultimate in convenience, cleanliness, safety and comfort. These add up to worthwhile credits on the side of electric heating. With electric radiant heat, drapes and curtains need less frequent cleaning, an item on the credit side for electric heat in any housewife's estimation. All these things con-

Use Large Plane To Search For Model

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —

When his 9-year-old son lost a model airplane which he was flying by remote control, John Tucker, a commercial pilot, chartered a small plane and took his boy on an air search of surrounding hills. They spotted the model, and went out as a search party after landing to retrieve it.

Squash Is Donated To Church Folk

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — Last spring Clifford Gilbert said to members of his family, "I'm going to plant a fourth of an acre of squash — for the Lord."

At harvest time, Gilbert was dead.

The proceeds of his squash patch are going to the Miller Chapel Church.

"VERY COMFORTABLE"

HONOLULU (AP) — Norman Hartnell, dress designer for British royalty, was asked during a visit here his opinion of the Hawaiian muumuu — the floor-length, shapeless gown descended from the Mother Hubbards of missionary days.

"Very comfortable, no doubt," he said. "These muumuus are very likely excellent protection against mosquitoes."

The world's first offshore sulphur mining plant is being built on a steel "island" seven miles off the Louisiana coast. Miners will commute to work by helicopter.

AN ELECTRIC HEATING UNIT is installed in the ceiling of a new house. In ceiling units, electrical cable is used. Baseboard and wall panel, more readily adaptable to older homes, also are available. There is little or no difference in efficiency among the three.

sidered, the cost of heating by electricity at 14 cents per kilowatt hour can be very competitive with oil heat at 17 cents per gallon.

Cost Comparison

Comparisons, while not always convincing, often are interesting. For example, in a recent issue of Electric Heat and Air Conditioning, Editor Frank Innes gives the figures on a 1,764-square-foot home in Indiana that was electrically heated during the 1957-58 season for $198.56 at a 1.7-cent power rate, while a nearby new home, practically identical in size, cost $212.50 to heat by gas, plus electricity for a blower, during the same heating season.

Three general types of electric heating elements are used. These are baseboard units, wall panels, and ceiling cables. There's little or no difference in efficiency. The choice is a matter of personal preference, and type of construction. Baseboard and wall panel units are most readily adapted to older homes.

That electric heating is becoming popular is indicated by the increase in its use. The number of homes heated with electricity increased by more than 70,000 in a 12-month period ending in 1957. It is something worth looking into if you are planning a new

NEW HOTEL TO OFFER ESCAPE FROM SUBURBA

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Suburbanite Joe Suburbia is the kind of guy who ventures where angels fear to tread.

He readily takes on a long-term mortgage, fusses and fumes over a new lawn, pays ever increasing property taxes, and commutes to work daily, although the hour's trip each way leaves him exhausted.

He would like someday to escape to the city again, but right now he finds the village a good place to raise a family.

Executive's Escape

For one type of suburbanite, the executive who can afford two residences or whose children have grown, escape is near.

Executive House, Chicago's first new hotel in more than 28 years, will be completed next November. Its 40 stories will contain 448 living units.

The executive will be able to drive his car into a 200-car garage. As someone parks it, he will take an elevator to his 38th home, or modernizing for more pleasant living.

floor apartment.

He will have air conditioning the year around. He will be able to dial a telephone call direct to any city in the United States. His utilities will be furnished. His laundry will be picked up and delivered within 24 hours.

While his former fellow suburbanite is mowing the lawn, he will step out of his 6-by-20 foot terrace for a view of the Chicago River and Lake Michigan. He will live near banks, libraries and theaters. An airport will be only a half-hour away.

The hotel is the brainchild of Morris R. DeWoskin, president of the Condado Caribbean Hotels, Inc., which will operate the 7½-million-dollar investment. Similar hotels are planned in St. Louis and Detroit, although work on them has not begun.

"We want to see how it goes here before we go ahead elsewhere," says DeWoskin.

"Companies are taking apartments and their executives will use them to save on income tax he says. 'Where the firm can't give a man money to pay for his home, it can say: 'You can use our suite.'"

Parrotfish wear nightgowns, solemnly reports the National Geographic Society. Observations in a West Indies marine laboratory show they exude diaphanous robes to protect them from smothering still. When they wake up, they swim out of their "nightgowns."

Discuss Financing With Your Banker When Buying Home

After months of searching, you have found your "dream house." It is often very important especially if you've signed a binder on a house and have been given only 30 to 60 days to obtain a mortgage. Bear in mind that FHA and VA loans may take longer than others.

At this point, you should realize that granting mortgage loans is among the reasons commercial banks and other reliable lending agencies are in business.

But every mortgage transaction involves individual problems of financing. It will pay you to go to your local banker, explain your particular problems, investigate the terms, ask questions and talk over the matter in de-

What are the terms of the mortgage? What are the interest rates? The interest rate on GI loans was recently increased from 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 per cent to open up the source of money for veterans loans. How many years will the loan run? Can this period be extended at a later date if desired? Approximately how much total interest will you be paying under the present terms of the mortgage? What is the amount of monthly payments? Does the mortgage loan have a period of grace similar to insurance policies for failure to pay on time? Is there a penalty for failing to pay promptly?

How are taxes paid? Do you pay your own taxes or does the bank take care of it for you? Can tax money be included in the monthly payments to your bank?

What about insurance? Is a monthly deposit of funds required to pay insurance? What kind of insurance must you carry and how much?

Are there pre-payment rights? If you pay off the loan as soon as possible, will you save on interest costs and build up your equity in the property much faster. You should find out the basis on which you can make payments tail. In this way you will be able to find the type of loan best suited to your particular needs.

Eight Questions

Before you obligate yourself in any mortgage, the Savings and Mortgage Division of the American Bankers Assn. suggests you know the answers to the following important questions:

How soon can you obtain the in advance of the amount due as stated in the contract. Is there any penalty for advance payments? Some loans have this clause. Can you pay off the loan in full prior to its maturity? Will pre-payments be credited as regular payments at a future time if you desire? In case pre-payments are allowed, will you pay interest only on the balance due?

When are payments due? Be sure to find out if you receive notification of due date.

What about "preliminary" costs? If you are buying a home, you will incur some preliminary costs such as appraisal fees, loan fees of your lending agency, revenue stamps and notary fees, mortgage and deed recording fees, legal charges for examining title to the property, pro rata insurance and property taxes already paid by the seller for which you must repay him, survey of property to establish property lines, if needed. If you are building a home, your preliminary costs could include the above plus cost of plans or architect's services, interest on the loan advances to contractors, premiums for insurance, and inspection fees. You should deter-

OLD FASHIONED INGENUITY is the homeowners' best weapon in improving or modernizing his home. Here is an excellent example of how one ingenious father put it to work. In building a family recreation room, he used furniture and materials that can take hard wear. The giant checkerboard pattern of the tile flooring was chosen to give the illusion of more generous proportions. And he found a decorative and practical answer to a tough storage problem by setting the family fishing rods in brackets attached to the pantry doors.

COSMETICS FIRM TO GET MBS NETWORK

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations are under way for a Hollywood cosmetics firm to take over the Mutual Broadcasting System radio network. Acknowledgment that the deal is in the making came from an MBS spokesman here and Davis Factor, chairman of Max Factor & Co., in Hollywood.

Factor was quoted as saying his cosmetics firm had reached a tentative agreement with Hal Roach Jr., Mutual's chairman. Mutual holds affiliation contracts with 453 radio stations. It owns none of them outright, but services them with news and programs.

Roach is president of the Scranton Corp. and chairman of the board of the F. O. Jacobs Co., which owns a substantial portion of the Scranton company. The Mutual spokesman said the F. L. Jacobs would not be involved in the transaction.

Factor said his concern would not be taking any stock in either the Jacobs or Scranton firms. The Securities and Exchange Commission suspended trading on the New York Stock Exchange of Jacobs Co. shares. The SEC charged Charles Gueterma, then Jacobs' president but since resigned, with failure to file financial statements. The case is pending.

Franklin, N. H., is the birthplace of Daniel Webster and his home is maintained there as a museum. There also is an orphan's home on the Webster farm.

FUTURE JUST STARTED IN APPLIANCES

Homemakers are due for some surprises in new home appliances during the year ahead.

The heat pump, for example, is only a year away. This device draws the warmth of the earth into a home to heat it. A heat transfer coil is buried four feet deep outside the home. The pump is inside.

This unit, under development for three years, will heat in winter and act as an air conditioning unit in summer. Its cost is comparable to present home heating units.

Another improvement is a frost-free refrigerator that utilizes a fan system to reduce the moisture inside the box. The extracted moisture is channeled to the vegetable crisper.

Room lighting also is in for simplification. Four major firms have passed the experimental stages with a lamp based on the principle of electroluminescence.

Since its discovery by Prof. Georges Destriani of France in 1936, electroluminescence has largely been a laboratory curiosity. It is a phenomenon of science that produces light by exciting phosphors with alternating current.

panels one or two feet square will be used for illumination. The lamp is a thin metal plate — a coating of phosphor between coatings of ceramic surfaces. It is operated on alternating current of 110 volts. By changing the cycling from 60 to 1,000 per second, the color of light can be

FIRE PATROLS NOT ENOUGH, STATE RULES

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Labor and Industry Department official Thursday told school representatives the department will not accept the use of fire patrol watchmen as a substitute for correction of fire hazards.

"The reports from the Chicago fire definitely bring out the fact that watchmen are not the answer," said John F. Dwyer, director of the Bureau of Inspection. "All the authorities who have studied the problem are opposed to the use of a patrol."

Dwyer presided at a round of hearings before the State Industrial Board on appeals from orders to school districts to correct fire hazards.

controlled, permitting any color of the rainbow to be produced.

Already electroluminescence is being applied to telephone dials. It makes the phone glow at night so you don't have to grope for it to answer it.

A Chicagoan named Irv Cohen, an engineering graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology, developed electroluminescent telephones, which are in production.

Barrett Story To Play As A Musical

NEW YORK (AP) — The renowned Victorian romance of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning is about to appear on Broadway's stage again—this time as a musical.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," which gave Katharine Cornell one of her greatest acting triumphs, is being transformed by Helen Thomas under the producing aegis of Jean Dailymple.

In the new version, the sponsors report, there is to be less emphasis on the fiercely assertive papa of the original, and more development of other members of the famous family.

School officials at the hearing emphasized they wished to avoid expensive corrections to old school buildings they planned to close soon.

Representatives of the Bellefonte Area Joint School District agreed to make additional exits from all class rooms in two Bellefonte elementary schools within 30 days.

They are the Hubersburg Elementary School and the Jacksonville Elementary School.

The Bellefonte delegation also agreed to provide one additional exit from the main floor of the Spring Street school by Sept. 1.
